STREET LIGHTS FOR EASTERN PART OF CITY FAVORED

Local Association Talks About Ornamental System, Bond Issue And Hotel

The Eastside Advancement Association held its weekly meeting yesterday noon by the special invitation of Dr. Henry R. Harrower, treasurer of the organization, in the assembly room of the Harrower Laboratory.

A plate lunch was served by the catering staff of Ye White Inn under the direction of Mrs. Jack Thomas. The menu consisted of assorted sandwiches, potato salad, coffee and ice cream. Those present expressed themselves well pleased with the repast.

C. W. Ingledue of 501 West Wilson avenue, who presided as president of the organization, called attention to the fact that Mrs. Thomas had gone out of her way to serve the last two luncheons of the association. As an expression of appreciation, it was decided to have the next weekly luncheon at 223 South Brand boulevard in Ye White Inn.

Charles F. Stuart, proprietor of the Glendale Pharmacy, 638 East Broadway, suggested that the members of the association should traverse Colorado street instead of Broadway in going to and from Brand boulevard. This caused a genuine "haw-haw."

Make Tour of Laboratory

At the close of the short business session those present were taken on a tour of the laboratory in operation. Many compliments were heard from them on its attractiveness and efficiency.

A solo by Dr. Henry R. Harrower entitled "The Girl I Left Behind Me," was the source of a laugh due to the fact that he sat at the Ampico and pretended to be playing his own accompaniment. When the applause had subsided, Mayor Spencer Robinson corrected the impression that Dr. Harrower might be a pianist.

The question of having ornamental light standards installed on Broadway to the eastern city limits was the principal subject of discussion. Mrs. Mabel L. Tight of 612 East East Broadway stated her opinion, which was endorsed by others, that the standards should be as good as those

ONE TYPE OF LIGHT FOR WHOLE CITY IS SUGGESTED

San Fernando Association Gets Two Standard System; Other Sections Are Active

On motion of Dwight W. Stephenson, the city council last night authorized unanimously the installation of two standard ornamental street lights on the San Fernando Road from Los Feliz to Pacific. It is probable the lights will be extended to West Broadway.

Later in the meeting Councilman A. H. Lapham announced that property owners on lower Broadway had agreed to install street paving, curbs, sidewalks and ornamental lights. It is also understood that property owners east of Columbus on West Broadway are planning to install ornamental lights.

The council last night informally discussed a plan whereby the cost of lighting the ornamental lights shall be justly distributed throughout the city. Abutting property owners will pay for the installation.

W. Griffin and L. H. Wilson representing the San Fernando Road Improvement association were present last night to urge the council to action. The latter stated that about $100,000 worth of improvements on San Fernando Road were awaiting the proceedings.

And at the meeting of the Eastside Advancement association at noon yesterday ornamental lights for the eastern section of the city were discussed.

Standardization of ornamental street electroliers for business and residential districts was recommended yesterday afternoon by Councilman C. E. Kimlin. The subject was brought up in connection with the weekly lunch of the Eastside Advancement association.

New Type of Light

With other members of this organization, Mr. Kimlin feels that Broadway from Glendale avenue to the eastern limits of the city should be better lighted. However, he does not believe that the type of ornamental lights on Brand boulevard and Broadway should be extended because he considers that they have become obsolete.

Clara Kimball Young To Attend Art Show Tonight, Announced

Tonight's program at the exhibition of sculptures and paintings at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce auditorium promises to be the big event of the week with both the Pearl Keller School of Dancing and Dramatic Art and the California Academy of Music participating.

Clara Kimball Young, the beautiful film star, has promised Carlo Romanelli to be in attendance and view the works of the various artists, while other prominent connoiseurs will be there. The great opportunity for Glendale people to see this great art show is rapidly passing and tomorrow will be the last day.

The Chamber of Commerce auditorium will be open all day tomorrow and an informal program is being arranged for the evening. Many school children have expressed the wish to return Saturday and give a closer study to the many beautiful objects.

F. Grayson Sayre's paintings of the Tropico Hills, La Crescenta and other local scenes have been creating a great deal of comment. Charles Cressey, who passed criticism on the display for The Glendale Evening News, states that now is the time for citizens to take the necessary steps to bring some of these works to this city. He says the library officials here would unquestionably welcome the opportunity of caring for any works of art placed in their charge. The library has no decorative display at present and reflects on the city, in Mr. Cressey's opinion.

Some very amusing incidents are recounted by the school children, who have been taken to the show by their teachers during the art study hours. One little lad called out:

"Hey, gang! Come here. Venus is holding up a horse trough."

Glendale Pupils Win Praise for Performance

Glendale Union high school dramatic students who took part yesterday morning in the production of the court scene from King Henry VIII and their director, Miss Mona L. Gardner, today are receiving the congratulations of the 175 pupils from Glendale who attended the Shakespearean Festival of the Oral Arts Association of Southern California.

"They certainly hold their own," remarked Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, head of the music department of the school, who was an interested spectator. "We are very proud of our young people. Miss Gardner's part of the program was certainly excellently given. The number came third on the program before the audience had begun to get tired. The attention was very fine."

The Glendale Union High School orchestra of thirty-five pieces played two selections which were much applauded: "The Wedding March," from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and "The Morris Dance," from Henry VIII, by Edward German. The solo cornet part was taken by Eldon Benge.

This orchestra is under the personal direction of Mrs. Gibson. Its members are:

First violins—Miss Hazel Linkogel, Herbert Brusk, Miss Genevieve Mulligan, Miss Julia Robinson, Miss Dorothy Watson, Miss Marjory Bailey, Miss Vanona Kaiser, Thomas Wood, Richard Fisher, Miss Marcella Webb and Ervin Potts.

Second violins—Miss Lois Kimball, Miss Leone Percy, Miss Mabel Elsey, Hart Wilson, Archie Neal and Alton Mattice.

Cellos—Lloyd Knapp and Marjorie Potts; saxophone, Miss Esther Edmonds; bass viol, Miss Ruth Goldsborough; first clarinet, Lawrence Knapp; second clarinet, Miss Ruth Edmonds; saxophones taking oboe part, Burton Kuntzer and Emerson Austey; first cornets, Elden Benge and Ivan Dow; second cornets, Alfred Johnson, Russell Blumfield and Roscoe Graham; trombones, Robert Burns, Bert Aageson and Harold Jones with a saxophone; bells, Miss Bettie Mabery; drums, Arthur Crissy; piano, Miss Leonora Rose.

MISS DELIA YOUNG, MEREDITH SIPLE ARE MARRIED

Charming Home Ceremony Is Held Thursday Afternoon, Rev. Ford Officiating

A very pretty wedding occurred Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, April 27, 1922, when Miss Delia Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Young of 528 West Doran street, became the bride of Meredith Siple of the Mile High ranch, near Beaumont.

The ceremony took place at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. E. E. Ford of 326 Fairview, the ring ceremony being used.

The bride was lovely in a gown of white georgette with a pink picture hat and carried a bouquet of orange blossoms. Her only attendant was her little niece, Louise Johnson, aged 10, who was prettily dressed in pink georgette, with a large pink maline bow in her hair, and carried pink roses. Dallas Kalbaugh, 14-year-old nephew of the bride, attended the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where the young couple received congratulations and a delicious four-course wedding dinner was served. The rooms were decorated with pink roses and ferns. The table, with covers laid for twenty-four, was very artistic with a combination of orange blossoms, white roses, forget-me-nots and white maline bows, while the bride and groom were seated beneath a bower of wistaria.

List of Guests

The guests were relatives and included Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Young, Miss Goldie B. Young, Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Young of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Kalbaugh, Dallas Kalbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Johnson and daughter Louise of Oildale, Mrs. Richard Siple of Mile High ranch, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stables, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cline, Leighton Taylor, Miss Clara Swayles of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kalbaugh and son Orville of Pacoima, Mrs. Molly Stratton of Los Angeles, Billy Rathburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Siple left by motor for a short honeymoon, not stating their destination. This wedding is the culmination of a romance which had its inception during the war, and has covered a period of four years.

Mrs. Siple is formerly from San Pedro, and has been a resident of Glendale for the past four years, graduating from the high school in the class of 1920. She has hosts of friends in the city who are regretting her departure from their midst. Mr. Siple is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Siple, who resided many years at 373 West Doran street, leaving for the Beaumont country two years ago.

The young couple will make their home at the Mile High ranch.

Scores of Scouts to Meet in Rubio Canyon

The first annual pow-wow of the boy scouts of the Verdugo Hills district will be held tonight at Camp Huntington, the week-end camp of the Pasadena boy scouts, located at the mouth of Rubio Canyon.

This afternoon over 100 enthusiastic boys left Glendale by automobile for camp. Preparations have been made for seventy-five Pasadena scouts as well as 125 from Glendale.

After "mess" tonight the campfire will be lighted and the boys will join in scout songs and yells.

L. F. Collins of Burbank is scheduled for a short speech on "Why Scouting Appeals to Me." Judge Owen C. Emery of 106-A East Broadway will speak on behalf of the Glendale Rotary club on "Playing the Game."

Tomorrow will be devoted to the giving of boy scout tests. The boys will leave for home about 4 o'clock.

North Brand Realty Reported Very Active

More than $100,000 worth of North Brand boulevard real estate has been sold in the last thirty days through the Endicott & Larson agency at 116 South Brand, according to J. A. Endicott, senior member of the firm.

Activity in the northern part of the business section has shown a keen demand on the part of business concerns to locate there, he adds, and there are several large buildings planned. The John W. Lawson transaction, reported yesterday, was handled by Endicott & Larson, who represented both parties.

Dr. and Mrs. Boyer See Sights of Rome

Mrs. S. C. Packer of 362 West Riverdale Drive is in receipt of a card from Dr. and Mrs. H. R. Boyer of Glendale from Rome. Dr. and Mrs. Boyer sailed on the same steamer from New York City as Mrs. Packer's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hardy of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Mr. and Mrs. George Milen of Ann Arbor, Mich., who made up a party of four touring Europe. Dr. and Mrs. Boyer have joined them in seeing the sights of Rome.

Roy L. Kent Heads Rotarians

Annual Banquet To Be Held Next Week

Plan Aid for Crippled Children

Roy L. Kent yesterday was elected president of the Glendale Rotary club; George Karr was named vice president; J. Herbert Smith, secretary and Rene Olin, his assistant; William A. Howe, treasurer; and H. S. Webb and V. M. Hollister, directors. For all offices the race was quite close and on account of Mr. Smith's contemplated trip to Europe, Mr. Olin was honored with the auxiliary position.

An inaugural banquet will be served one week from this Friday night and officers installed. This event also will mark a new era in the life of the club for it will then actively begin its mission of service so far as outsiders are concerned. The first thing on the program is Boys' Week, the plans for which will be definitely determined tonight at a meeting of committee chairmen.

Aid Crippled Children

The second and more lasting effort decided upon yesterday was the education of crippled children in Glendale. Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, informed the club that about twenty-five youngsters are now out of school because of physical disability. The club agreed to employ visiting teachers until such time that the work is taken over by the board of education.

Again, at the suggestion of Mr. White, the club will act as sponsor for playground work this summer until Community Service is able to organize. The latter organization does not expect to put on a demonstration here until October. It is planned to use the equipment of the public schools, the only expense being the employment of one or more directors.

The entertainment of visiting delegates to the International Rotary convention in Los Angeles this June also was arranged and if present plans are carried out, one luncheon period will be assigned the Glendale club. One thousand automobiles, if necessary, will bring the visiting members to Glendale and they will be handed their lunch by school girls. F. J. W. Henry of the Sierra Club beverage plant promised to provide the refreshments.

Nothing Like It Before

It was pointed out that approximately 6000 or more people could be brought here from the convention hall via Glendale boulevard and returned via Los Feliz Road without crossing paths. It would take not longer than an hour and a half. Nothing like it has ever been attempted before at a convention in Los Angeles.

The Boys' Week is quite a comprehensive program and more will be published as the details are worked out. However, it provides for play, health, study, athletics, etc.

Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson addressed the Rotarians on Postal Improvement week and invited them to visit his establishment. C. R. Williams, secretary of the Southern California Grocers' association, also was present and spoke briefly.

Nolan, indicting the operators, declared that the strike is undoubtedly due to unified efforts to prevent a lowering of coal prices. He denied, however, that there was any evidence of any conspiracy among operators to this end.

The 40,000 marks represented just $21 in American money, and were to cover cost of service of complaint on Mrs. Zwick, care of the American consul general at Warsaw who refused to serve the paper without express authority from the American department. He returned the money. When it arrived in Reno most of it had been absorbed by exchange charges.

Deschanel, who was 76 years old, was twice president of the chamber of deputies before becoming president of France in 1920. He served only a short time, resigning because of illness. An attack caused him to fall from a train on one occasion and he accosted a pedestrian on the country road, announcing to the man's amazement, that he was the president of France. "Yes, and I'm Napoleon," the man said, only to discover later that the stranger was in fact the president.

CHARGES SPECULATORS ARE GIVEN ADVANCE TIP

WASHINGTON, April 28.—An advance "tip" given speculators on the New York stock exchange that the government had leased the Wyoming naval reserve to a private company caused trading in the company's stock to jump to more than $30,000,000 in three days, while official information was withheld from the newspapers and public by Secretaries Fall and Denby, Senator Robert M. Lafollette, republican, of Wisconsin, charged in the senate today. A thorough investigation by the senate public lands committee of the "Sinclair oil deal" and of all the circumstances surrounding the leasing of the naval oil reserves in California and Wyoming to private interests was proposed by a resolution offered by Lafollette.

AUTOS CRASH, MAN INJURED; OTHERS ARE NOT HURT

Big Car Turned Upside Down And Yet All In Accident Miraculously Escape

A crash which could be heard for half a block attracted several hundred people shortly after 7:30 o'clock last night to the intersection of Colorado street and Central avenue where a Studebaker six had been turned upside down by a Hupmobile.

As a result, J. W. Chastain of Mojave is in the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital with a broken rib, slightly injured eyes, an abrasion on his left hand and several scalp wounds.

Why the accident did not result in at least one fatality is the mystery which is puzzling those who assisted in removing the wreckage. The Studebaker had turned completely over so that its wheels were facing skyward. Mr. Chastain was found imprisoned underneath it.

Mrs. J. Ingram of 411 North avenue 64 was a member of the party also. Altogether, there were five occupants in the car. All of them were severely jolted but no serious injuries were reported.

Car Badly Damaged

The top of the car was demolished, the windshield was shattered into many pieces, the fenders were bent and other damage resulted from the collision. It was hauled into Los Angeles this morning by the tow car of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The names of the occupants of the Hupmobile could not be ascertained this morning. The license plate, however, was taken out by Helen G. Anderson of 319 West Patterson avenue. The car was taken to the garage of McGrath & Hunter, 314 South Brand boulevard, but A. R. McGrath stated that he did not know to whom it belonged. The left front wheel was bent under the fender which was considerably twisted.

John Collier of Indian Welfare work in California will discuss the subject. Frederick Ward will reminisce about his friend, Modjeska, from his acquaintance with her on the stage.

A most interesting program has been planned to cover all the sessions of the convention. There will be an evening of music and Shakespeare at the hall, an evening of music at the Ebell club, an afternoon at Southwest museum with the Indian Welfare and Wawan club co-entertainers, reception at the new Hollywood clubhouse, and several teas.

At this luncheon the P. E. O. members are also proud to have as their special guest the state P. E. O. president, Mrs. Maude Clock of Long Beach, and also Mrs. Stafford, Iowa, who is one of the original seven, which statement will perhaps mean much to members of the P. E. O. sisterhood.

Some Good Advice Is Given by Local Man

While Dan Campbell, president of the Glendale National bank and Principal George U. Moyse of Glendale Union High school, are marooned by the Mississippi river at New Orleans, the mail brings an interesting little item from the former who is one of the delegates to the Knights Templar conclave.

G. & M. RAILWAY IS PROVING POPULAR SCENIC TRIP

Much of Interest Is Seen on Route to La Crescenta; Building Activities

One of the pleasant little journeys through life is a trip to La Crescenta on the Glendale & Montrose railway, the suburban system connecting communities in this vicinity.

The modern, one-man safety cars start at the terminals after the conductor-motorman has collected the fares, otherwise it is pay as you enter.

Out through the Verdugo canyon, via Glendale avenue, the first scene of beauty is the sequestered subdivision known as Verdugo Woodlands. It is rapidly building up and a dahlia garden, California pavilion, old adobe and natural picnic places are attractions.

Much Building Activity

Double tracks are provided for and it is expected that Canada boulevard will be extended this summer. The residence section of Glendale is gradually moving up the hill toward Montrose through the vineyards, peach orchards and sunkist lemon groves.

At Montrose there is great building activity and a Pasadena lumber company has invaded the field. Fred Anderson is handling a lot of the real estate and most of the people make their purchases in Glendale outside of provisions furnished by one grocery and a few fruit stands.

Continuing to the terminus at La Crescenta, the G. & M. road has a picnic place called Glenrose park, which is quite an attraction for Sunday hikers who take the car to the park and continue from there along the mountain trails.

La Crescenta also is enjoying great prosperity and A. W. Brown is on the job to show the real estate prospector about. A small business section and school attracts quite a number of patrons to the railroad.

Pay to Keep Line Open

P. L. Hatch, general manager of the line, who was with the Great Western Improvement Company's Riverside Portland cement plant for eleven years prior to coming here to represent their interests, states that for years the owners have dug down into their pockets to keep the line running and make the necessary improvements on both the main line and Eagle Rock branch.

Now that it is paying its own way there will be many minor improvements, which funds have not permitted until now. Past losses, however, will not permit of extensions now, but better business may make such possible in a year or so.

More carloads of freight, including lumber, grapes, gravel, etc., are needed and more passenger traffic. Film companies working in Verdugo canyon and the F. P. Newport Company's real estate excursions add in a small way to the line's revenue.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Senator Lodge and other Republican leaders are of the opinion that whatever soldiers' bonus plan is adopted finally can be readily financed without imposing a serious drain upon the treasury, it was ascertained from official sources today.

The cut of $3,250,000,000 which it was said had been made in the national debt since 1919 has left them convinced that the deficit of $250,000,000 or even $500,000,000 Secretary Mellon stated recently was threatening the country, should not stand as an argument that the government cannot afford to take care of the bonus.

They believe that the bonus can easily be provided for by the issuance of additional certificates of indebtedness, for which the treasury was given ample authorization by the liberty bonds and victory note acts, until such time as interest payments on the British debt become available.

It was predicted this method of financing the bonus would be adopted eventually. Senator Lodge and other senators were not at all favorably impressed by Mellon's last letter on the bonus to Senator McCumber of North Dakota, chairman of the senate committee, in which he warned that the nation's finances were in no state to permit the assumption of an additional obligation like the bonus.

The opinion of Senator Lodge and of other Republican leaders who favor the bonus is that Mellon ought to experience no difficulty in finding a market for additional certificates as the market for securities was never better than it is now, and money was "easy" by his ability to borrow it at 3 1-3 per cent.

Spring Is Here! Tra La! Tra La! For This Rippling Rhyme Surely Proves It

C. B. Curtis, a traveling salesman, had occasion to visit Glendale recently and wrote the following ripping rhyme while in the Chamber of Commerce office:

Last week I went to Glendale,
That rapidly growing city.
I met some men with business brains
And some were very witty.
I found them in department stores,
I found them in the banks,
I found them in the auto shops
And in commercial ranks.
I saw about 'steen places
For men's and women's shoes,
I saw a place to leave your name
For The Glendale Evening News.
If I should tell you all I saw,
You'd say, how can it be?
When I was there ten years ago
The buildings numbered three.
I'll tell you, friend, beyond a doubt,
That city's bound to grow!
If you'll just take a look around,
You'll say, "Old man, you KNOW!"

Health Conditions of Glendale Good

"So far as contagious diseases are concerned we have had a pretty good spring," remarked P. G. Wells of the municipal health department this morning. "Outside of influenza, we have had a great deal fewer cases. Last spring there were only two or three cases of influenza. This year 509 have been reported since the first of the year."

March, 1921, showed 109 cases of contagious diseases reported. However, the fact that ninety-three of these were cases of measles shows that there was an epidemic. Of the others, nine were mumps, three scarlet fever, two diphtheria, and two chickenpox.

March, 1922, showed a total of fourteen cases divided among five cases of diphtheria, four of whooping cough, three of chickenpox, and two of mumps.

April, 1921, had eight cases, five of measles and three of mumps.

April, 1922, has fifteen cases: five of scarlet fever, three of diphtheria, three of chickenpox, two of mumps, and one each of measles and whooping cough.

HEALTH-AGAIN TALKS

By Dr. Otey

"DO YOU CURE INCURABLE DISEASES? CERTAINLY NOT."

But many of the so-called incurable diseases yield to Osteopathic treatment. Some patients wait till they have lost recuperative power; there is no sound tissue left to built on; such cases we do not want, and frankly tell them so.

People often remark how wonderful it is that the Osteopath cures such a large percentage of cases that come to him for treatment. It seems a great deal more wonderful when we consider that nearly all of those are chronic cases that have been treated unsuccessfully by various other doctors and specialists before consenting to try Osteopathy. Think what the percentage would be if the Osteopath could get hold of those cases in the acute stage before the disease became so deep-seated and chronic and before the body had lost so much of its recuperative power.

Of course we do not cure incurable diseases, but many of the so-called incurable diseases yield to Osteopathy. Many cases, now in an incurable stage, could have been cured if taken in time.

Thrilling Film Will Be Shown Here Free

A pleasant entertainment is in store for the Glendale people this evening and tomorrow evening, when the sensational movie thriller, "Something New," will be shown free of charge to everybody in a temporary open air theatre, at 242 South Brand boulevard.

The picture has been brought here by the Glendale Motor Car company, Maxwell dealers for this territory and is the most sensational picture of its kind ever produced. For hair raising experiences it has no equal and shows action every minute.

There will be three shows, beginning at 7:30 p. m. and lasting about an hour and a half each. Refreshments will be served in the salesrooms of the Glendale Motor Car company after each show.

The fire occurred about 3:30 a. m. Monday morning, April 17. It was caused by the ignition of leaking oil by flames from a gas burner which had been left ignited by workmen who were testing out the new system of gas heating which is being installed at the school.

F. W. Collins Tells of John Brown School

Dr. Franklin W. Collins, who is vice-dean of the school for poor boys and girls which has been founded by John Edward Brown, the evangelist, who held a union evangelistic meeting in Glendale a year ago, on his farm in the Arkansas Ozarks, and wife are in Glendale and are stopping at 243 Louise street. Both Dr. and Mrs. Collins are teachers in the school.

Dr. Collins has had a distinguished career as lawyer, editor and lecturer, having spoken in nearly every part of the country upon the Chautauqua and political platforms. For many years he was assistant to the attorney-general in Washington, D. C., and while in Washington organized the "Hamilton National Memorial Association," of which the late Justice Harlan of the U. S. Supreme Court was president.

In describing the establishment of the John E. Brown college, Dr. Collins says:

"We helped to launch the school in a large, temporary building on the farm, and collected a group of earnest and ambitious boys and girls from the country roundabout whose education had been sadly neglected, and have been going and growing ever since. We accepted sixty-five students the first year and the second year doubled our student population. This year, just closing, we have taken about twenty-five more, while being compelled to turn back close to 900 applicants for lack of room and means.

"Ours is a pay by work plan entirely, for every student works his or her way, giving four hours of work daily as against four hours of time in the school room. This work is performed on the farm, in the carpenter shop, the garage, printing office, kitchen, cannery, or what not. Everybody works."

HARDING MAY CAMP OUT

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—If President Harding visits the Pacific coast this summer as he is planning to do, he will "camp out" in Muir Woods, a magnificent collection of California's giant redwoods within a short distance of San Francisco, in Marin county. This became known today through arrangements being made at the army quartermaster's depot to furnish tents for the party.

DROWNS SEEKING FREEDOM

FOLSOM, Calif., April 28.—The body of C. E. Stalker, who escaped from the state prison here a week ago, was found in the canal which bounds one side of the prison ground. He had evidently lost his life in attempting to swim the waters of the canal, which are very swift. The body was found about two miles from the prison, the current having carried it along until it struck an obstruction. Stalker was serving a long sentence for the kidnaping of a Fresno boy.

U. S. WARS ON DRUGGISTS

PEORIA, Ill., April 28.—War on druggists and doctors who are alleged to have entered into a conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws, has been opened by the federal government here. Six physicians and two druggists have been indicted. Prohibition agents say other arrests and indictments will follow.

COVINA BEATEN BY GLENDALE TEAM; SCORE, 5 TO 1

Aageson, Local Pill Twister, in Fine Form, Allowing but 4 Hits and Fanning 16

After winning from Hollywood on Wednesday afternoon the Glendale high school baseball squad continued to upset the dopesheet yesterday by a 5 to 1 victory over the Covina nine in a regularly scheduled Central league contest played on the losers' diamond. The game, which was witnessed by a crowd of several hundred rooters, was featured by the phenomenal showing made by Aageson, local pitcher. Besides setting the Covina "Lemons" down with but four hits he performed the remarkable feat of fanning sixteen batsmen. Such an accomplishment is far from being a common one in any league, and it is probably a season's record for the Central league.

Sharing the honors of the day with Aageson was Fred Terzo, whose efforts at the plate surpassed those of any of the players on either team. In five trips to the plate Terzo obtained a trio of single base raps and one double, besides batting in two of his team's five runs. Quite an afternoon's work for such a youthful Ty Cobb.

Glendale scored one run in the first, third, fourth, fifth and ninth innings. The initial counter was tallied on Fruhling's scorching double to left center, his pilfering of third base and Terzo's first single of the day.

Scores on Squeeze Play

The count was boosted in the third round when Fruhling again managed to find his way around the sacks. Reaching first base on four wide ones he stole second on the first ball pitched, was advanced to third on Green's perfect sacrifice and scored on a squeeze play with Terzo.

The "Lemons" drew their only score in the last half of the third, when Dudderar was given a lease on first through Pete Fruhling's error on his grounder. He was sacrificed to second and came home on Meiklejohn's two-bagger.

Fruhling, who did the major part of Glendale's scoring throughout the game, opened the first of the ninth round with his third hit of the afternoon—a three-bagger to left field. Green, the next batter, brought him home on his second sacrifice of the day.

The Short Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Quite some few of the boys have condemned the pitching staff of the New York Giants, virtually sight unseen. They have made the Giants an "if club" on that particular score and are inclined to lift a journalistic eyebrow at the chances of the McGraw entry to repeat.

And they may be as right as rat poison. The Giant staff most certainly is a spotty-looking thing just now. Toney seems to have lost his stuff, Douglas is always uncertain and the brothers Barnes have yet to prove that they are everything that the kindly critics claim for them. Jess, the older of the two, has been an over-rated pitcher for some years, we candidly believe.

However, one point is being overlooked, to-wit:

With that wonderful infield of Kelly, Frisch, Bancroft and Groh roaming at large over the adjacent terrain, a Giant pitcher will not have to be a world beater to get by. Indeed, it is possible for a very ordinary pitcher to win twenty games a season with such an outfit behind him.

A case in point is the memorable New York-Cincinnati series of 1919. On that occasion Sallee, Ruether, Eller and Ring were made to appear as having pitched wonderful ball; that is, if you judged their performances by the box scores.

What actually happened was that Heinie Groh gave an exhibition at third base that would have redounded to the credit of a butterfly net. Time after time he came up with extraordinary stops and throws, breaking up rallies with Giant base runners tearing for home. Groh had more to do with the winning of that series, and perforce, the National League championship, than any other man on the payroll of the Cincinnati club.

He held up the pitchers and made them look better than they actually were. When a man pitches a shutout you forget, forthwith, the fact that often he is saved by a species of parlor magic on the defense.

We are reminded that many old baseball men gave more credit to the great Cub infield of Chance, Evers, Tinker and Steinfeldt than they did to the pitchers, barring Mordecai Brown. In fact, it is claimed by some that Overall, Reulbach and Pfeister would have been rated as ordinary pitchers if it hadn't been for the fool-proof defense of that remarkable infield.

Sports Chatter

By Bill Unmack
Pacific Sports Service

Girl tennis players appear to be coming to the front on the Pacific coast as quickly as their brothers. The fame of May Sutton, Hazel Hotchkiss and Mary K. Browne, all products of the Pacific coast, and all of them several times national champions, is today acting as an incentive for the young generation of girls now playing.

Last year Helen Wills surprised the east not only by winning the girls' national junior title, but by the phenomenal game she played against veterans, champions and near champions. Little Helen will not be seen in the east this year, but will confine her efforts to the national girls' court championship to be played at Berkeley this summer as well as going after the senior women's Pacific coast title.

Last year Winifred Suhr stood out prominently as one of the strongest opponents of Helen Wills, and today many tennis followers are of the opinion that sixteen-year-old Miss Suhr has just as good a chance of becoming nationally famous as Helen Wills. These two school girls created a sensation by their play every time they met last year, but the finish of the game showed Helen was too much for Winifred.

Last week Winifred Suhr for the fourth year in succession won the San Francisco city girls' junior title, Helen not being eligible for this particular tournament. That Winifred is improved was evident to all who saw her match in the finals against Carolyn Swartz, and here again is another young miss of tender years who has plenty of tennis ability and a brilliant future before her. It was a two-set match and Winifred won only after the most stubborn contest, 6-4, 6-3. It was a brilliant display of tennis and it was only the great finish to her strokes and her all-round knowledge of stroke-making that finally won for Winifred. Her strokes were smooth, beautifully timed and angled, the trajectory of most of them being so flat as to bring to mind the perfect method of Bill Johnston.

Another factor of prime importance was the evidently wonderful manner in which little Winifred conserved her energy, and here again she showed a replica of Bill Johnston in this regard. Besides these factors the four-time girl champion showed a decided improvement in her game, notably in the severity of her forehand drive and in her footwork. While the little player conserves her energy yet she has overcome at the same time her former inability to cover the court. This was even up to last year one of her glaring faults, while Carolyn Swartz, her last opponent, was always noted as being a court coverer of wide range. Winifred met her opponent equally on this matter in their match and she has now rounded out her game to such an extent that she is playing a slashing finished game—with finishing shots.

The World Over

By Franklin B. Morse.
Pacific Sports Service

Salt Lake City had a fine time at the expense of Los Angeles during the third week of the Pacific Coast league series. While the Angels dropped from second to fifth place in the standings, the Bees winged their way upward from sixth to third place. Sacramento was another club that fared poorly, dropping from .538 per cent to .450 at the hands of San Francisco, which took five of the seven games. A comparison of the clubs' standings at the end of the third week this season with 1921, shows the following:

1922

	W.	L.	Pct.
San Francisco	14	7	.667
Vernon	11	6	.647
Salt Lake City	8	5	.615
Oakland	10	11	.476
Los Angeles	9	11	.450
Sacramento	9	11	.450
Portland	7	9	.438
Seattle	6	14	.300

1921

	W.	L.	Pct.
San Francisco	15	5	.750
Sacramento	14	7	.667
Oakland	9	8	.529
Los Angeles	10	9	.526
Seattle	9	10	.474
Salt Lake City	6	9	.400
Vernon	8	12	.400
Portland	4	15	.211

Portland made a garrison finish last Sunday and came out from behind and took the series from the Oaklanders by taking both games of the double header and thus still further putting a margin of distance between itself and the cellar which it has so continuously occupied. As things look just at the moment, unless the Seattle team bestirs itself, it is likely to hold the place of ignominy.

The San Franciscans continue to do a lot of execution with the ball in the batting department. During the last series with the Senators there were only two of the five games in which they did not gather ten or more hits. Of the games in which double figures were not reached, one produced nine hits and the other seven, which is not bad when considered as a minimum.

The Salt Lakers had a good week with the willow also, no game of the series producing less than nine safe wallops. In fact the league pitchers are still suffering considerably at the hands of the batters and it will be several weeks yet before they get into their stride and begin to pare down some of the exceedingly high averages which usually obtain at the start of a season.

Of the players, the artist to attract particular attention is Jean Valla at the present time. He is playing with the Seals and seems to have the earmarks of a comer. During last week he increased his batting average from .343 to .403 and shows a familiarity at the home plate with a bat in his hand which is equal to that of any veteran. He is only a youngster, being nineteen years old. It still is too early in the season to figure how he will stand up under the gruelling strain of a prolonged siege of playing, but there are many who have expressed the opinion that he has the stuff to come through.

Unless Seattle succeeds in doing something for itself by the close of the present week against the Oaklanders, they will be in for one of those discouraging uphill fights.

Leadership Training School Opens Session

The leadership training school for Sunday school workers which opened recently at the First Christian church, has a regular attendance of seventy-five. A number are enrolled from the Christian church at Burbank. The work in the junior division is under the direction of Mrs. C. A. Cole; the intermediate division, Mrs. H. T. Stevens; the young people's section, Rev. C. A. Cole; primary division, Miss Laura Wilford Brown.

At the last session, the primary division was addressed by Mrs. Pearl Gentry, state superintendent of the elementary division of the inter-denominational Bible School work. Her talk was on the necessity of hand work in the school; she will be present at the next session and give a practical illustration on this line of work. After the class work, a general assembly was addressed by Rev. Cole on the subject of organization and administration of the church school. Sessions are held every Wednesday night.

Johnny Evers Busts Into American League

CLEVELAND, O., April 28.—Johnny Evers, old-time National leaguer, made his debut as a player in the American league here Thursday by kidding for straight balls from Morton, pitching for Cleveland. The walk came in the first inning and forced in the fourth Sox run.

Evers was playing second base in place of Eddie Collins, who was out with an injured right wrist. The Trojan displayed all his old-time pep.

WORLD CONFERENCE ON MAY 11 TO 31 BY ADVENTISTS

C. E. Kimlin of Glendale Will Attend Large Meeting to Be Held in San Francisco

The outcome of the quadrennial session of the world general conference of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination to be held in San Francisco May 11-31, is awaited with more than ordinary interest. The entire denomination will be affected by the plans and policies made at the coming meeting. Delegates from all parts of the world where the Adventists have mission stations will be present.

Delegates who will attend the world convention from the Southern California Conference will be: The President, W. Milton Adams, who will be chairman of the delegation; George W. Reaser financial agent, V. Hammond Lucas, secretary of the home missionary department; Chester S. Prout, evangelist, Wilbur D. Salisbury, member executive committee, and Clarence E. Kimlin, manager Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

The six-story civic auditorium building in which the last world's convention was held in 1918 has again been furnished by the Chamber of Commerce of the Golden Gate city. With its large main auditorium, in which is one of the biggest pipe organs in the world, and its numerous assembly halls and committee rooms, it will be an ideal place in which to hold this big 20-day convention.

Crosses Ocean 16 Times

Elder Arthur G. Daniels, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., has served as president of the general conference for more than 20 years. He was for several years a missionary in New Zealand and Australia, until elected president of the general conference. In his visits in the mission fields of the various continents in the interests of world-wide evangelization, he has crossed both the Atlantic and Pacific ocean sixteen times each. He is widely known as preacher, writer, traveller and lecturer.

The Adventists have sub-divided the world field into six divisional conferences, with a vice president of the general conference over each. These are: North America, South America, Europe, Africa, Asia and Australia. Each of these are sub-divided into union conferences, which in turn include the local churches of individuals. They have such organized departments as the Sabbath School, Young People's Missionary Volunteer, Home Missionary, Medical, Religious Liberty, Educational, Colporteur, Foreign Missions, Home Missions and the Press.

Some Facts and Figures

The Seventh-day Adventists sent out 310 missionaries in 1920, and 228 in 1921. They support their world-wide work with tithe and free-will offerings. They operate forty-five publishing houses and branches in strategic places on the earth, and publish literature in 99 languages. It would cost over $800 to purchase one each in the cheapest binding of all their large and small books, pamphlets, tracts and magazines. Their literature sales for 1920 amounted to $5,682,972.35. They operate thirty-three large sanitariums, 928 primary schools, 97 advanced schools and 6,151 Sabbath schools. In 1920, the Sabbath school contributions alone amounted to $1,441,000. The average per capita of funds raised by them in 1920 was $63.92.

At the coming world convention, every phase of the work will be considered, reports from all continental fields as to growth will be rendered, general conference officers will be elected by the assembled delegates, and definite plans laid for more aggressive work.

Undertakers Plan to Drive Out All Gloom

NEW YORK—The sting will be taken from death and victory wrested from the grave if members of the Associated Undertakers of New York have their say. The atmosphere of gloom that pervades the profession of undertakers must be abolished, declares Frank E. Campbell, president of the organization.

"We plan," declares Campbell, "to hereafter discard black gloves, bleak funeral chapels and sombre countenances. The day of the long-faced undertaker has passed. We must keep pace with the times by conducting funeral services so sublimely beautiful as to relieve the bereaved of sorrow."

Richly ornate furniture and beautiful tapestries should supplant the meaningless simplicity of funeral chapels, Campbell stated. Bronze statues and rugs of artistic and historic value should be upon the floors, he said.

"Caskets," continued Campbell, "should have colors to match the decorated rooms. Purple and gray caskets are too suggestive of death. The dead should be surrounded with more healthy colors. I see no reason why caskets of gold plush cloth should not be utilized. Anyway, we should have caskets that will add to the mellow atmosphere of the chapels."

SANICO

The RUST-PROOF PORCELAIN RANGE

SANICO RANGES MADE TO LAST

—The Sanico Range is so rugged in construction that only violent abuse can injure it. The tough, elastic rolled iron sheets give ample strength and permit the frame to be made exceedingly strong.

RUST PROOF

—Sanico Ranges are coated inside and out, even the ovens and flues, with unbreakable six-metal Porcelain, which means that RUST can never attack the iron sheets to which it is fused. Even the sheets themselves, being made of pure iron, are practically rust proof.

ELASTIC AND UNBREAKABLE

—Sanico Porcelain expands and contracts exactly as the pure iron sheets to which it is fused. That is why heat or cold has not the slightest effect upon it. You can heat it red hot and plunge it into cold water without the slightest danger of cracking or chipping it, or changing its color. It bends with the metal without cracking. Twists and strains that would crack cast iron plates do not affect it the slightest. It is the only practical coating to use on a range.

A SANITARY RANGE

—Sanico Ranges are Sanitary. They are free from corners to catch the dirt and grease. The Range is smooth, beautifully finished and as easy to clean as a china dish.

25-YEAR GUARANTEE

—Every Sanico Porcelain Range carries a 25-year guarantee burned into the porcelain where it cannot be effaced. This is a real guarantee—one that protects.

"Thank You"

This acknowledgment of a courtesy or service is somehow the satisfactory end of a transaction. Both parties are pleased and the relations of the moment, however unimportant, are more happily closed.

There is no occasion when an effort made for the comfort or convenience of others is not worth a "thank you."

In the daily routine of telephone operations, where the saving of time is the great consideration, the opportunity of expressing an appreciation of a service rendered seldom arises.

But remember that the telephone operator is human. Courtesy to her means more cheerfulness in her work. It will be reflected in your own self-satisfaction.

REAL OPTIMISM IN FEDERAL RESERVE MONTHLY REPORT

Banking Improves, Lumbering Active, Employment Better, Statement Indicates

Written for International News Service

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—The monthly summary of business and agricultural conditions in the Twelfth Federal Reserve district by John Perrin, chairman of the board and federal reserve agent, Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco, issued today, exhibited a distinct tone of optimism.

"The banking situation in this district continues to improve," said Mr. Perrin. "Borrowings from the Federal Reserve bank of both city and country member banks combined fell from $61,106,000 on March 8th, to $49,025,000 on April 12th, a decline of $12,081,000, or 19.7 per cent. This reduction was accomplished at least in the case of the country member banks at a season of the year when the requirements of their customers are usually heavy, and indicates a growing ability on the part of these banks to meet customers' needs without securing outside assistance.

"The most striking industrial development in recent weeks is the record activity in building operations. Figures of building permits for March were, in point of value, the largest figures ever reported in this district, exceeding the previous record month of October, 1921, by 17.5 per cent. Compared with the month of March a year ago, this year's figures exhibit an increase of 47.9 per cent in value and 14.7 per cent in number, indicating a period of unusual activity in construction lines during the summer and fall.

Lumbering Most Active

"Among other industries of the district lumbering is most active. Production during March was approximately 90 per cent of normal, the highest percentage reported by this industry in the past 16 months. New orders received by mills in the four principal lumber associations were 22.4 per cent greater than March production. Five more of the largest copper mines in the district have announced the resumption of operations and on April 1st, eleven of the fifteen principal mines which closed down one year ago were again working their properties, although on a greatly curtailed scale. Sales of electric power for industrial purposes in February continued on the same high level as in January, primarily reflecting the activity in lumbering and mining.

"Agriculturally, there have been few new developments during the month. In many sections the winter season extended well into March and farm work has been delayed from two to three weeks. The winter wheat crop now appears to be in better condition than on December 1st, but it is not expected that the record crop of last year (78,000,000 bushels) will be equaled. The present outlook for the deciduous fruit crops of the district is excellent, with the exception of apricots, the yield of which has been reduced as much as 60 per cent in some sections by attacks of brown rot and killing frosts.

More Men Are Employed

Preliminary estimates of cotton and sugar beet plantings indicate a slight increase in acreage of cotton in the principal growing sections and a reduction of approximately 25 per cent in the acreage of sugar beets, compared with last year. Prices of agricultural products, while they have not continued the steady gains which characterized their movements in the first two months of the year, have fluctuated at levels appreciably higher than those of January last.

"An increased demand for unskilled laborers, partly seasonal and partly due to greater productive activity in the district has increased the number of men employed and all states report that the peak of unemployment has apparently been passed.

"Trade at retail during the month was 6.2 per cent less in value than in March, 1921, but the comparison loses much of its significance when it is remembered that Easter buying occurred in March last year and will be largely reflected in April sales this year. After making due allowance for declines in retail prices of from 5 to 10 per cent over the year period it is probable that the physical volume in March, 1922, was at least equal to that in March, 1921. At wholesale trade in general was dull, and did not compare favorably with 1921 figures either in value or physical volume of sales.

22 Billion Telephone Messages Sent in 1922

BUCYRUS, Ohio. — There were twenty-two billion telephone messages carried over telephone wires of the United States during the year 1921, an average of over sixty million messages a day, according to the report of W. S. Vivian, of Chicago, vice president of the Telephone Men's Association, speaking before the Rotary Club here on "The Service of the Telephone."

HAWAIIAN TRADE SLUMPS

HONOLULU, T. H. — Hawaii's trade balance with mainland United States, which in 1920 was a robust $118,000,000, dropped in 1921 to a mere $7,000,000, a loss of $111,000,000. The loss is said by business men to be due to the drop in sugar prices and to decreased sugar production and not to any big increase in importations. Exports from the territory in 1920 aggregated $192,383,185, while in 1921 they totaled only $71,669,115.

Forward-Looking Hen Places Date on Egg

WINNIPEG—Just as the fish has been adopted in the United States as the source of all tales, weird and phantasmagorical, so is the hen to be hailed by all Canada as the harbinger of the impossible.

The story of the most recent accomplishment of a Canadian pullet was brought here recently by Ronald James, a well-known poultry dealer.

According to Mr. James a hen owned by Angelo Colbertaido, of Bedson, Alberta, has produced an egg with the figures "1926" plainly inscribed on both sides of the shell. Just what is to occur in that particular year the egg did not reveal.

Sufficient to say, however, the feat actually eclipsed that of the Ontario hen, which laid the egg with the dire legend, "World ends 1920" inscribed on the shell.

Colbertaido, according to James, can attribute nothing to the accomplishment of his marvelous pullet. The egg, he said, remains just as it was taken from the nest on February 28.

The figures are about an inch in height and successfully resist all efforts to remove them from the shell, Mr. James said.

Colbertaido is on record as emphatically denying ever having fed his unique fowl any calendars.

Combining Wire and Wireless

Albert D. Lasker, chairman of the shipping board, from his office in Washington talked to a ship at sea, using the ordinary telephone transmitter, which was connected to the radio outfit at a regular radio sending station. This unusual method is being developed, and it is said that it will not be long before any one will be able to talk to a ship at sea by using the house phone.

OSCILLATION TRAIN

When a condenser is charged and allowed to discharge through a circuit containing a spark gap and a coil of wire in series with the condenser, oscillations are generated whose frequency is the natural frequency of the circuit. This natural frequency depends upon the capacity of the condenser and the inductance of the coil.

During one condenser discharge, one spark, the oscillations may take at a very high frequency (a large number per second). But if the discharge only lasts a small fraction of a second, due to energy dissipation in the gap and other portions of the circuit, there may only be a comparatively few oscillations actually taking place. The current decreases with each swing until it ceases to flow after a comparatively few swings. No current will then flow until the condenser is again charged and allowed to discharge. There is thus one group of oscillations for each condenser discharge, or for one spark. This group of oscillations is called an "oscillation train" or a "train of oscillations." It might just as well be called a group. It would be a group of "damped" oscillations, since the dying out is called "damping."

If the condenser is charged and discharged one thousand times each second there are one thousand sparks per second. There are, therefore, one thousand groups or trains of damped oscillations per second, and the group or train frequency is one thousand. The spark frequency is, of course, also one thousand sparks per second. This frequency must never be confused with the oscillation frequency, which is always higher and depends only upon the capacity and inductance of the discharge circuit.

If there were no damping of the oscillations there would, of course, be no trains of damped oscillations. Oscillations which are not damped are called continuous oscillations, and if they are periodically started and stopped they will, of course, be created in groups. We may then also have groups of continuous oscillations, but continuous oscillations are not generated by the discharge of a condenser in the above manner.

NEW APPARATUS AND DEVICES

Radio Engineer, Cutting and Washington Radio Corp

A NOVEL VARIABLE CONDENSER

The usual type of variable condenser has an air dielectric and metal plates, which intermesh without touching each other. If any plate of one group touches a plate of the other group, the condenser is short circuited at least in a few positions of the pointer on the scale. There has been developed a variable condenser, which has a mica dielectric, in which this possibility of short circuit has been eliminated. The condenser has two plates which open out like the covers of a book, the distance between them determining the capacity. That is, the capacity is varied by varying the distance between the plates. As shown in the illustration, there is a shaft, at one end of which is mounted a dial and at the other end a cam. The cam can be rotated over the movable plate by turning the dial and works against a spring which tends to keep the movable plate away from the stationary plate.

Because of the mica dielectric the condenser can be used in a low power, continuous wave telephone or telegraph transmitting set. The capacity can be varied between .00006 and .0007 microfarads.

In some rotary types of variable condensers trouble is often experienced with poor contacts between the rotary plates and the external circuit. This is overcome in this type of condenser by having the connecting wires soldered directly to the plates.

The simplicity of the device is probably one of the most novel features. It makes for low cost of manufacture and low price to the consumer.

TULSA, Okla., April 28.—Tharry McCoy, 15, a printer's "devil," hung his ink-smeared apron on the wall today and took a train for Greenwood, S. C. A telegram from his mother in that city, stating she and Tharry had inherited more than two million dollars, called him. The boss of the shop told Tharry he "had the makings" of some day becoming a right smart printer, but Tharry's ears, already "tuned up" to a million dollars' wave length, did not "get" the suggestion.

"I don't guess I'll be back to work any more," Tharry said.

Questions on Radio and Their Answers

Question: Is there any fixed rule for how many stages of radio and audio frequency amplification that should be used?—M. B. J., Glendale.

Answer: No; but two stages of radio frequency to one of audio frequency amplification makes a good combination, more than one audio being necessary only when a loud speaker is used.

Question: I have a regenerative receiver consisting of a vario-coupler and two variometers, and I have great difficulty in tuning in the music. What is the cause of this?—R. C., Glendale.

Answer: A regenerative receiver tunes very sharply. Leave your grid variometer at zero and tune with your plate variometer until you get the station desired; then tune slowly with the grid variometer until the signals are properly tuned in.

Question: Why is it that a grid condenser and leak are not used in the amplifiers?—S. P., Eagle Rock.

Answer: The circuits are usually so arranged that a negative bias is put on the grids of the amplifier in another way. In order to get maximum amplification from an audio frequency amplifier, a negative potential or bias on the grids of the amplifier tubes is essential.

Question: Is there any technical reasons for using a single wire for the reception of music?—H. L., Glendale.

Answer: No; a single wire is usually recommended, because it is the easiest to put up and will compare favorably with any other forms of antenna for reception purposes; however, there are several forms of aerials that can be used with good results.

Question: Is there any way that a person can repair a pair of telephone receivers that have lost their magnetism?—A. B. N., Verdugo Woodlands.

Answer: Telephone receivers are remagnetized by connecting the windings to a source of D. C. and striking the magnets while current is flowing through the windings. Your receivers are delicate and sensitive instruments and it would be safer for you to return them to the factory to be repaired.

Question: Does it make any difference where the filament rheostat is connected, in the positive or negative "A" battery lead to the filament?—G. T., Glendale.

Answer: There is no fixed rule for this; a slight difference may be noted either one way or the other, but it is generally connected in the positive lead.

Radio to Help In Learning About Mars

By GEORGE VAN SANDS
Radio Editor The Evening News

Do you know that Thomas Edison's right hand man, Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, who lately gained fame by actually producing with electricity, honest-to-goodness thunder bolts, and whom the General Electric company, the largest organization of its kind in the world, pays a great big yearly salary just to have him play around their laboratory at Schenectady, N. Y., is authority for the statement that radio will go a long way to find out things about the planet Mars?

Why not? Mars is not so far away, only a little matter of some thirty million miles. And as radio vibrations travel at the rate of 186,000 miles per second, and as the human voice has already been heard ten thousand miles by radio, and we all admit it is in its infancy, don't see any reason at all why we can not shortly hope to get in touch with Mars by radio; of course, providing, there is somebody up there on Mars to communicate with. But it is not to laugh when a man like Steinmetz makes predictions, and it follows that he must believe that Mars is inhabited or he would not have made the statement concerning radio communication between the two planets.

Just suppose for a moment that it was an assured fact, that we would shortly be able to talk with the inhabitants of Mars; all the details had been arranged, and that on a certain day President Harding was to be put into radio communication with someone qualified to talk on Mars; granting that Mars is the older planet of the two, on which point scientists all seem to agree, pause and think what it would mean to us here in Glendale if Mars were able to tell us the secrets of Life and Death, and inform us of inventions and discoveries, comparison by which radio would pale into insignificance; that they could show us how to prevent wars, how to stop poverty, disease, hatred and a whole lot of other interesting things too numerous to mention.

Marconi stated a short while back that it was his belief that Mars was attempting to get in touch with us. A few weeks ago there was some sort of electrical phenomena that seemed to be playing the role of spooks, a theory that was set forth as an explanation of the ghostly happenings in Nova Scotia, investigation of which was made by Dr. Walter Franklin Prince of New York. And who can tell but what it was simply another attempt of Mars to get in touch with us and that we are on the eve of actual communication with our Martian neighbors by radio.

HUGE U. S. DEBT ON FUTURE CITIZENS IS NECESSARY

Nation Owes 23 Times More Money Now Than in 1917, Says Treasury Official

By U. S. Press Association.

WASHINGTON, April 28. — The United States owes twenty-three times as much money now as in 1917, when the public debt was about $1,000,000,000. Eliot Wadsworth, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, in commenting on his statement to the above effect, says:

"This huge debt we must pass on to the future citizens. Without any surplus of revenue over expenses we cannot decrease our public debt of $22,500,000,000, and government expenditures must come down. Although the Civil War is sixty years behind us, yet the bill for pensions is $250,000,000. Only 15 per cent of our public expenditures goes for peaceful purposes, as it were. The remainder, 85 per cent, goes to pay for debts and activities based on war."

Disputes and Federal Power

A timely discussion of the "use of federal power in railway labor disputes," by Clyde O. Fisher, has just been issued by the U. S. Department of Labor. In this bulletin the experience of this country in the development of governmental authority in the settlement of railway disputes through the enactment of a series of laws is discussed. The law of 1888 providing for voluntary arbitration, the Erdman Act, the Newlands Act, the Adamson law, and the Esch-Cummins law all progress, although not in equal degree, towards the recognition of the principle of the paramount interests of the public in these conflicts.

The present law, which marks the final stage in the establishment of the primacy of the public interest, would seem to indicate that public opinion has crystallized to such a point, the author says, that "controversies on the railroads will never again be settled as though the contending parties were alone involved."

Extend Immigration Curb

The immigration restriction resolution as passed by the senate extends the provisions of the immigration law from June 30, 1922, to June 30, 1924, one year longer than was provided in the house resolution. The house will doubtless approve the senate amendments.

In order to strengthen the restrictions and prevent aliens reaching the United States after brief residence in Mexico, Cuba and Canada, an amendment was adopted requiring foreigners to live five years in these countries before they may be admitted to the United States.

Government Radio Periodical

The Department of Commerce, through the Bureau of Navigation, has for a number of years issued a monthly periodical called the Radio Service Bulletini. This gives information regarding changes in the radio laws and regulations, additions or changes in the list of licensed radio stations, and other traffic information, and also contains brief news items regarding new developments in radio communication, particularly in government radio work. Information is given regarding stations which broadcast weather and market reports, music, and other kinds of news and entertainment.

The Bureau of Standards contributes to the Radio Service Bulletin regularly items concerning its radio work, and new publications in this field are promptly noted. Because of the great number of demands upon it, the Bureau of Standards has announced that it cannot undertake to send individual notices of the appearance of its new publications to all those interested in radio work.

Half Billion Deficit

Expenditures during the fiscal year 1923, which starts July 1 next, will be $3,657,000,000, according to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. Receipts during the same period will be $3,298,000,000. This is an excess of expenditures of $359,000,000. In addition, there will be $125,000,000 accumulated interest of war savings stamps January 1, 1923. When this is added, the total is $484,000,000.

REALTY BOARDS OF NATION DO GREAT APPRAISAL WORK

C. D. Thom, President of Local Organization, Tells About Conference Features

Property valued at more than one and one-half billion dollars was appraised by committees of real estate boards in the United States and and Canada last year, C. D. Thom, president of the Glendale Realty, said today. He continued by saying that one of the important conferences of the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at San Francisco, May 31 to June 3, will be on board appraisal work.

The conference, among other features, will discuss the responsibilities of board appraisal committees to the community, property owners and purchasers; city and county appraisal work. Cleveland realtors will tell how the board has been recognized by the Federal Internal Revenue Department and the way in which the board is co-operating with the department in the appraisal of estates.

Recognize Advantages

Mr. Thom pointed out that property owners and purchasers are recognizing the importance and advantages of having property valued by a committee of expert realtors responsible to a real estate board. The administrations of many cities now buy property only after it has been valued by a real estate board appraisal committee.

The San Francisco board has announced that it will hold open house on May 30, the day before opening the convention, to afford the hundreds of delegates of the United States and Canada an opportunity to meet informally and get acquainted.

Among the entertainment features the San Francisco board has provided are an informal reception to be held in the Palm Court of the Palace Hotel; a luncheon, shopping tours and a visit to Chinatown for the women; an Oriental ball a cruise around San Francisco bay out thru the Golden Gate and return on the steamer Asbury Park, which has been chartered for this occasion, and an alternative motor trip around San Francisco for those who do not care for the water.

A golf tournament has been arranged, starting June 5, at the Del Monte course. Many tours by boat, train and motor will be arranged as long as the guests are in San Francisco, according to a report of the local realty board.

On Tour of State

C. C. Tatum, president of the California Real Estate association, is now making a tour of the state boosting for the San Francisco gathering. He started out on April 24 and following is the remainder of his schedule:

April 29—Saturday, luncheon at Marysville; evening dinner, 6:30 at Chico.

April 30—Sunday will be spent at Chico.

May 1—Monday, luncheon at Orland; evening dinner with Sacramento, Woodland and Placer boards at Sacramento, 7 o'clock.

May 2—Tuesday, luncheon at Vallejo; joint evening dinner, 6:30, at Santa Rosa, with Petaluma and San Rafael boards attending.

May 3—Wednesday, luncheon of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley boards at Oakland; Wednesday evening, meeting of Stockton and Lodi realty boards.

May 4—Thursday, luncheon of Modesto and Turlock boards at Modesto; evening dinner of Madera and Merced boards of trade.

May 5—Friday, joint luncheon of Fresno and Selma boards at Fresno; evening dinner at 6:30 with Dinuba and Reedley boards at Dinuba.

May 6—Saturday, San Joaquin valley realtors picnic at Tulare county park.

PLAN GAS WAR ON PESTS

HONOLULU, T. H.—Poison gas will be used in a territory-wide campaign against rats, which now cause losses in the cane fields estimated at 10 per cent of each two-year outturn of cane. In Cuba and Porto Rico poisonous gases have been used successfully in combating rodent pests in the cane fields.

Man and Rabbit In Race; Former Winner

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. — A race with death was run by a rabbit and a man at what was the Eastern Torpedo Company's nitroglycerin plant, four miles from here, a few days ago. The rabbit lost—but the man won.

As R. G. Camblin, glycerine maker at the plant, tells it, he did a quarter of a mile in nothing flat. Camblin was firing up the boiler in the plant when a cotton tail rabbit which had made its way into the boiler box for an afternoon's siesta, dashed out with its fur saturated with oil and on fire.

The first race was on as the rabbit, a leaping ball of fire, dashed through the door. But the rabbit, in an effort to put out the flames, slipped under the flooring of the nitro-glycerin plant.

Camblin's race then began. He knew only too well that there were forty quarts of "let go" in the tanks. He raced from the plant and had covered a quarter of a mile through some pretty footwork not seen even on college cinder tracks when there came a roaring explosion which shook Bartlesville, four miles away, and completely wiped out the plant.

BABY NAMED FOR ISLAND

NEW YORK—A child born on Ellis Island to Mr. and Mrs. Filippo Quattrocchi has been christened Maria Giacoma Ellis Quattrocchi, taking the name off Ellis after her birthplace. The parents of the infant are detained at the immigration holdover, pending an appeal from deportation.

The mayor of Breslau has decided to erect a monument as a constant reminder to the Germans of the loss of Upper Silesia, according to reports.

Swat th' Fly! All Town to Clean Up

M'PHERSON, Kan.—As far as the City Commission can make it this town will be "flyless" this summer.

McPherson, in fact, is going to be a town where a fly will be as much a curiosity as a horse is in Detroit.

An ordinance has been passed which contains these provisions for taking all the joy out of a fly's life:

All barns, stables, chicken houses and other animal abodes must be thoroughly cleansed three times per week and the refuse carted outside the city limits to a place where it will be burned.

Every home and business place must have a garbage can kept covered. The city will collect the garbage.

Wire fly traps must be placed at the front and rear of every business place.

The Federation of Women's Clubs and the Chamber of Commerce are also planning anti-fly unpleasantness which will make the buzzers think McPherson is starving Russia as far as flies are concerned.

Bill Would Regulate Names Given Babies

LONDON—The Norwegian government has submitted a bill to parliament which proposes that all children who are born after it comes into operation shall be given a regular family name.

Christian names, the bill declares, must not be used as family names. Parents will be forbidden to give their children names in bad taste.

All burners and valves are designed for economy in the use of gas. These are a few of the A-B features. The rust-proof oven alone is a feature that appeals to every woman. Your Friend Has No Better

—We might say that your friend has a refrigerator that is NOT SO GOOD—unless she owns an Automatic.

—It is not alone the appearance of the Automatic, but the solid, honest construction, that makes it the best refrigerator made—BAR NONE.

—The Automatic has eight (8) separate and distinct walls of the best insulating material known. It enables you to get along with much less ice. (The Good Housekeeping Institute Test PROVED an average of ten (10) pounds of ice for every twelve hours, with the refrigerator opened every hour from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. to read temperature, with a 75-pound ice capacity refrigerator.)

—Then there is the modernized Automatic system of cold, dry air circulation that PRESERVES your foods—keeps them sweet and wholesome all the time. The best and most easily cleaned trap in the world, the wide shelves, the substantial construction—these and many other things will make you feel proud to show your Automatic to your friends.

—Come to the demonstration. The AUTOMATIC WATER COOLING SYSTEM is wonderful, and can be found in no other refrigerator.

BRICK MULLER NOW LEADER OF BEARS' TRACK BATTLERS

One of Best Drawing Cards In Intercollegiate Athletics Is California's Captain

By HOWARD M'GILLIS
Sporting Editor The Evening News

Harold "Brick" Muller, known throughout all parts of the country as one of the greatest all-around college athletic stars that the west has ever developed, has been selected as captain of the California track and field team for next year. It will mark his third year on the squad, he having won his big "C" in the high jump event for the past two seasons.

Muller is undoubtedly the best drawing card appearing in American intercollegiate athletics today. Although track, baseball and several minor sports are listed in his category, 90 per cent of his pressagentry has been brought about through his superhuman performances on the gridiron. In the two seasons in which he has played on Andy Smith's "Golden Tornado" he has been the leading figure, both on the offense and defense, in every game in which he has participated. Few fans will ever forget the almost unbelievable feat accomplished by Muller on January 1, 1921, when he tossed a forward pass for a record distance of sixty yards in the East vs. West championship contest at Pasadena. That was the play that put the confidence in the Bruins and paved the way for a 28 to 0 victory.

During the past season Muller's effect on the morale of his teammates was best observed in the University of California-University of Southern California game on the Berkeley oval. With the score tied at seven all and the southern players outcharging and outplaying their rivals at practically every stage of the game, Coach Smith surprised the 30,000 spectators by replacing Fullback Archie Nesbit with Muller, who had been out of the game for a number of weeks previous with a broken leg. The sorrel-topped star remained in the game for just two plays, one of them being one of his famous passes for a gain of thirty yards. This was all that the California team needed and they proceeded to overpower and outluck the Trojans during the remainder of the afternoon.

Model Yachts to Race

The Model Yacht Racing Association of America, of New York, is arranging for the staging of a series of elimination trials to determine the fastest American miniature yacht, the trials to take place on May 13, 14, 20 and 21. The winning craft will then be groomed to enter the international miniature affair between the United States and England on June 8 and 10.

The coming affair, which will be the first international event of its kind ever staged, is attracting the attention of boat racing fans in all sections of the country. The match has been scheduled as the result of a challenge which was recently issued by W. J. Daniels of London, England, to a race with the best American miniature craft.

Fishel Shines Forth

Joe Fishel, former resident of this city and graduate of the local high school, is fast becoming one of the shining lights in the Southern California sporting world. His present diversion along the line of athletics is that of managing and captaining the Catalina Cubs, who comprise one of the leading baseball clubs in local semi-pro ranks. With his Sundays devoted to the national pastime and the week days spent in giving golf lessons, Joe is managing to keep busy "without growing stale" as he puts it.

Following his graduation from the Glendale high school, Fishel associated himself with the municipal links at Griffith park, later becoming assistant to Alex Morrison, well known professional. Upon his return from service in the army in 1919, he signed a contract with the Wrigley interests in Catalina, since that time having had complete charge of the golf course, both as manager and professional instructor.

Fishel, who is associated with his brother, Miller, is the brother of Mrs. A. B. McIrvin of 700 East Orange Grove avenue.

DEVELOPMENT IS LICENSED

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The federal power commission has granted a license to the Southern California Edison company for power development on the San Joaquin river at a point forty-five miles northwest of Fresno. The project includes a concrete dam 100 feet in height to be located on the river a short distance below the company's No. 8 power house, recently completed, which was included in the project licensed last year by the commission.

More Good Recipes From Cooking School For Glendale Women

A more interested group of women could seldom be found than that composing the domestic science class at the Trice Furniture Company's demonstration of the Sanico gas range, the many good features of which are being explained by Mrs. Mary Marchmont, a Sperry Products demonstrator.

The women are making a close study, not only of the pastries and other food prepared by Mrs. Marchmont, but of this wonderful range which boasts of baked enamel parts, even inside the oven. Following are some of the popular recipes given by the instructor yesterday:

Quick Cake

1 cup sugar.
2 cups Sperry Drifted Snow flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
½ cup milk or water.
1-3 cup melted shortening.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
1 teaspoon lemon.

Sift dry ingredients, except sugar, beat eggs until very light, add sugar gradually, beating with egg beater. When creamy, add dry ingredients alternately with liquid, mixing well. Add flavoring and melted shortening. Bake in two layers and put together with jelly or add one-fourth cup chopped walnuts and bake in well-greased muffin pans.

Layer Cake

½ cup shortening.
1 1-3 cup cups sugar.
2 cups Sperry Drifted Snow flour sifted with 2 teaspoons of baking powder.
3 eggs.
½ cup of milk or water.
1 teaspoon each of vanilla and lemon extract.

Cream shortening until it may be beaten with a spoon, add sugar gradually, continue to cream. Separate the whites and yolks of the eggs. Beat yolks until thick and lemon color, add to creamed butter and sugar; then add flour and liquid alternately; fold in the well-beaten whites of eggs and flavoring. Bake in three well-greased layer-cake pans in a moderate oven.

Icing and Filling

2 squares unsweetened chocolate.
1 teaspoon butter.
1½ cups powdered sugar.
1-3 cup of hot wateer.
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt chocolate and butter over hot water. When melted add sugar, then hot water gradually, beating until smooth, then add flavoring. Let stand until thick enough to spread between layers. If used for icing only, can be used at once.

This filling may be varied by using cinnamon as flavoring or by using hot coffee instead of water.

Also, either chopped walnuts or raisins may be added. Do not put between layers while they are hot or the filling will melt.

Devil's Food Cake

½ cup butter.
2 cups sugar.
4 eggs.
2½ cups of Sperry Drifted Snow flour.
3 teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon cinnamon.
1 cup milk or water.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
2 squares unsweetened chocolate melted over hot water.

Cream shortening, add one cup sugar, cream together well; beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored, add one cup of sugar and combine the two mixtures. Add the flour, sifted with baking powder and cinnamon, alternately with liquid. When well mixed, add flavoring and melted chocolate, then fold in beaten whites of eggs. Bake in medium oven in greased pans.

This amount of batter will make four layers or two small loaves.

NIGHT CLASSES AT HIGH SCHOOL OF GREAT VALUE

Various Departments Prove of Educational Benefit; It Is Not Too Late to Join

Service is the keynote of the local night school, according to members of its faculty, who feel that residents of Glendale have not yet become fully aware of its importance and value to the community.

Principal A. L. Ferguson today emphasized the fact that it is not too late for new students to enroll. He called attention to the fact that night school sessions will continue right through until the close of day school June 23 and that those who are in attendance this year will be given the preference next term when the class schedules are arranged.

"The commercial department of the Glendale Union High school is making an unusual showing in attendance this year in night school," remarked Preston A. Fuller. "A great many of the students entered in September and have continued in attendance up to the present time without a single break to mar their record. This showing is not to be marveled at, however, when one stops to consider the subjects offered and the careful arrangement of classes. The classes are so planned that a student may get exactly what he needs to increase his efficiency. Even at this early hour students are reporting the school work a great aid in their office work.

Good Business Course

"Great interest is being taken in bookkeeping and accountancy. This course is planned so that a student starts his course as a bookkeeper for a large retail grocery firm. At the end of a three-month period he finds that he has advanced and is employed by a wholesale firm. Later in the course the student is taken into the science of cost accounting and corporation books.

"A splendid course in banking is offered to those interested in that line. Each evening from 8 to 9 a class is given in rapid business writing. Those who are attending this class are making splendid progress."

Miss Alice H. Davies comments favorably upon the gratifying attendance in the typewriting and shorthand classes and notes that it "reflects the keen interest shown by many business people for higher development in these subjects." She adds that the object of the commercial department is to leave no stone unturned to give those who attend the classes a thorough and practical training.

Mistakes in English

"The class in business English is now considering the various difficulties that confront the average person in speaking his native tongue," declared Paul E. Webb. "The mistakes that mar the language of the business man and woman and that stand in their way of success are being ferreted out. Only the elements of grammar which are essential to the correct use of everyday speech are being considered. Members of the class are enthusiastic.

"For those who have difficulties in arithmetic the night school class in applied mathematics offers a solution."

This class is small and Mr. Webb is giving personal instruction to its members in any branch of arithmetic in which they feel that they have need.

A limited number of those who like to play tennis may do so after 5 o'clock, according to Coach Howard L. Butterfield, who believes that the evening school session would not be complete without providing for those of the community who want some recreation after working hours.

Helps Them to Health

"The men who come and enjoy an evening of live games and get a good shower afterwards need no invitation to come," he stated. "They know how it helps them to feel better and enjoy their work more. Men, who work inside all day, will find it a great tonic and energizer. There have been some splendid games of indoor baseball and volley ball during the past few weeks. If you want some good, wholesome exercise and want to feel in fighting trim just come to the gymnasium on Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening. Get a gym suit or some old clothes and join in the fun. There are no fees or expenses. Showers and towels are free."

Principles of dress designing have been discussed this term by the class in dressmaking with much interest.

"Every woman enjoys being able to produce her own hats and gowns," remarked Miss Wilhelmina Hobusch. "This pleasure has been realized somewhat by the women who have attended the evening millinery and dressmaking classes. Many have shown deftness for designing and have created some very attractive hats and gowns. It has been a satisfaction for many to learn how to choose hats adapted to face and coloring."

Auto Shop Is Popular

Blue print reading is one of the phases of the classes in mechanical and architectural drawing which are open from 7 to 9 o'clock each Monday and Wednesday evening under the direction of Arthur Oliver and George O. Lockwood.

"The auto shop evening course has proven to be very popular," announced Bert Rolfe. "Cars are taken down and reassembled and engines overhauled. This gives the car user first hand information about the upkeep of his car. Efforts are made to meet each individual problem whether it be brought up by one engaged in the trade or by an owner driver."

The machine shop course offers unlimited opportunity, according to Morgan N. Smith, who remarks that in the class at the present time are enrolled carpenters, automobile mechanics, auto salesmen, electricians, clerks, aviators, mechanics and business men.

Use Standard Tools

"The machine tools used in our schools are of the standard variety that will be found in modern shops and garages," he added. "The things which are being made are of a practical nature and many of them are taken home by the students. We particularly invite the general public to visit our shops on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. If people could realize what an opportunity they have before them they would certainly take advantage of it."

The woodworking department is open to visitors also. Walter Gorman stated that some very neat floor lamps and furniture have been made this term by students of the night classes. He said that a model bungalow had been built to scale and perfect in every detail from the foundation up.

"If there is one modern language which can be put to real practical use now-a-days, it is Spanish," declared Henry E. Brockway, commenting on the fact that a new class in this subject is now being organized. "The increasingly improved steamship service between Los Angeles and Mexican, Central and Southern American ports means more export business and a demand for Spanish. To those, who are connected with business firms in Los Angeles doing business with Latin-American countries, the course should be of especial interest."

INQUIRY INTO WAR CONTRACTS URGED ON CONGRESS

Both Houses Seem Anxious to Stop Probe; Representative Of Russia Is Clever

By J. E. JONES
Special to The Evening News

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 28.—Representatives Johnson of South Dakota and Woodruff of Michigan, ex-service men, are persistent in their demands that Congress should make a wholesale investigation of alleged fraudulent war contracts. There has been an evident purpose in both the Senate and House to squelch all such attempts. It will be recalled that at the close of the war there was a huge outcry over the millions wasted in aircraft. A few months ago the government caused the arrest of Charles W. Morse and some of his associates who had been engaged in ship-building. The Morse case has not yet been brought to trial.

The two congressmen who are pressing matters at this time seek to uncover the transactions of the alien property custodian. The sale of the Bosch Magneto company and the activities of the Chemical Foundation company have been pointed out as particularly rich prospects in official scandaldom. The connection of the former alien property custodians, Palmer and Garvin, with these matters, has been the subject for endless criticism, and attempts have been made to air the matters in the Senate and House. But congress has been unresponsive regarding all post-mortems concerning the war.

The legislative bodies have taken the position that the executive branches of the government, particularly the department of justice, should handle the cases, and make wholesale arrests, if there are as many "war crooks" as one hears about in Washington.

Congress is a particularly busy organization, and the attention of both houses is riveted on stupendous governmental problems. It is only when business is dull that congress takes kindly to holding "investigations."

Doubtless the old saying that "there can be no great smoke arise, unless tahere be some fire," can be applied to the activities of Congressmen Johnson and Woodruff. Even so, congress is likely to "duck" the responsibility that these well-meaning congressmen are trying to impose on it.

Russian Ambassador

Russia has one of the finest embassies in the national capital. Although Russian diplomacy is about as popular as a hair shirt with the American administration, its ambassador lives in the heart of the town and in the "spot of the light." Senator Borah "started something" when he issued a summons for Ambassador Bakhmeteff to testify regarding his knowledge of General Semenoff, the Russian Cossack whose entrance into this country has stirred up a storm of protest. Bakhmeteff claimed immunity, and the state department supported him in his refusal. This particular Russian ambassador arrived in Washington under the regime of Kerensky. He is handsome, some say clever—and he cut a big dash in the part he played in "saving Russia," following the flight of the czar. Although the Kerensky government ceased five years ago, Bakhmeteff has held on. When his title was challenged, Secretary of State Hughes protected him. Bakhmeteff isn't much of an ambassador, but Mr. Hughes says he represents Russia—and, according to all precedents, that should settle it. The present soviet government of Russia disclaims Bakhmeteff, and might hang him if he went home. But Mr. Hughes recognizes Bakhmeteff and doesn't recognize Russia, and ordinarily that would protect the sacred ambassadorial halo. Senator Borah excepts to Secretary Hughes' position. "Even if Mr. Bakhmeteff was once an ambassador," says Mr. Borah, "when he begins to counsel and harbor a murderer it is time to terminate whatever status he may have had or may have."

Fixing It With Mexico

"There has been no change in the policy which this government has laid down in regard to Mexico." This is the phrase that succeeded "watchful waiting." And just as people wondered and wondered about "watchful waiting," so have they wondered about the "no change" episode. Ah! But there is light upon the shadows, and it all turns out that the United States is negotiating "a treaty of amity and commerce" with Mexico. When it is signed, sealed and delivered in Mexico City and Washington, relations between the two countries will be automatically resumed. The Washington explanations are to the effect that our government will not seek to humiliate Mexico by making that government give us assurances in writing that American rights and American citizens will be respected and that the Mexican government will observe the rules of international law commonly held valid between civilized nations. Nothing of the sort! All we are going to do with Mexico is to draw up a treaty in which every one of the above conditions will be scrupulously included, and then we will sign it with Mexico instead of asking that government to sign it all alone. It will be a "treaty" — not a "humiliating pledge"! Another case of "strange all this difference should be 'twixt Tweedledum and Tweedledee."

THE HANDY MAN

"John, have you seen my new patent lemon squeezer? It was here on the table an hour ago."

John: "Gosh, was that what that was? I took the clock apart and had a deuce of a time finding a place for that thing, but I finally got it in!"

FRANCE IS VIEWING WITH BRITAIN ON SUBMARINES

Thwarted on Number of Big Battleships, Planning to Increase U-Boats

By T. N. SANDIFER
Written for International News Service

WASHINGTON—Despite the limitations of the naval treaty, England and France are on the verge of a navy building competition more intense than any existing before the Washington conference, naval authorities now studying the post-conference situation stated today.

With battleships prohibited, both countries are expected to direct their naval efforts to outbuilding each other in submarines and light auxiliary ships. The situation as viewed by authorities here is this:

England failed in her efforts to abolish the submarine. France, smarting under the occurrences at the conference, will ease her feelings against England by building every submarine she can lay down, naval officials here believe. England, in defense, and as a counter move, will not only build a submarine, but also a light cruiser or other anti-submarine vessel for every craft France builds. This will continue until something happens to divert the course of events. What will divert it is not yet known in naval circles here.

Weapon of Weak Nation

Both countries, it is pointed out, are acting in what they conceive to be their best interests. France, as the weaker nation, must rely on the weak nation's weapon, the submarine. England, being vulnerable to attack from this weapon, will protect herself.

Students of the situation see possibilities of another limitation conference eventually. They point out that Japan is likewise free to engage in competition with the United States with considerable effect, as with submarines and aircraft that country can control her mandated areas, and the far east is already open to her by reason of the treaty. Should this develop it is stated, the Americans would be compelled to build submarines for our islands, or not accept the challenge. It is conceded, however, that the United States can outbuild any rival should necessity again arrive.

Nail Swallowed Last June Kills Little Girl

ST. LOUIS—Last June Agnes Dolores Housemann, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Housemann, East St. Louis, swallowed a six-penny nail.

Two weeks ago she suddenly became ill with pneumonia. The physicians ascribed her great pain to an abscess on the lung. She was given an X-ray examination, and it was found that a nail had lodged in the bronchial tube leading to the right lung.

While preparation was being made to remove the nail it changed position to the child's left bronchial tube. She died of suffocation.

You are tired of the "long daily drag" between the house and your "downtown" office.

For months you have passed, on Glendale Boulevard, only 3 miles from Broadway, picturesque Ivanhoe Hills, held in acreage as a part of the Griffith estate. All these things are possible now.

Large, well restricted homesites may be purchased on Ivanhoe Hills. Water is in. Buildings may start at once. Gas and electricity are within a day's work from the tract. We pay for all improvements. Courteous salesmen will call for you on request.

HIGH SCHOOL PLANS ARE CONSIDERED BY OFFICIALS

Two General Layouts Being Discussed to Give Glendale Fine Educational Plant

Complete plans for the new high school plant will be ready a few days after the high school board of trustees decides definitely upon the scheme it wishes to use in laying out the grounds, according to a statement made by Architect George M. Lindsey of 706 East Broadway, who is associated in the preparation of these plans with John C. Austin of Los Angeles.

Two general plans are now under consideration by the school board.

One provides for an oblong administration building flanked on one side by the household arts building and on the other by the science building and all three facing on Broadway. They would occupy nearly the whole frontage of the property, which is about 1000 feet. The shop buildings and cafeteria building would be placed in the rear of the other structures and would not be visible from the street. The auditorium would be in the rear of the administration building. The athletic field would be placed parallel to Broadway in the rear of the property and would run east and west.

Another Layout Offered

The other plan includes an administration building placed diagonally across the southeast corner of Broadway and Verdugo Road. The auxiliary buildings would be placed along both Broadway and Verdugo Road about fifty feet from the sidewalk. The auditorium would be in the rear of the administration building as in the first scheme and the cafeteria would be placed in the rear. The track, however, would be diagonally across the rear of the campus from southwest to northeast.

The principal objection to this layout, according to Mr. Lindsey, is the fact that a great deal of land at the corner must be reserved for a lawn in order to set the administration building off properly. He feels that this structure should be set back from the street intersection at least 100 feet. Under the other layout, a distance of fifty feet from the curb would be sufficient.

There are several advantages to the second layout in the opinion of both Principal George U. Moyse and Mr. Lindsey. They feel that the administration building would be more imposing in appearance if placed upon the corner and that it would be more easily accessible. They call attention to the fact that it would be visible for some distance to motorists traveling east on Broadway whereas, if the first plan should be followed, the administration building would not make much of an impression until the motorist paralleled it on Broadway.

Advantages Claimed

Among the other advantages of this layout is the fact that the buildings could be given more diversified lighting and ventilation. Mr. Moyse believes the chemical laboratories and the music rooms could be placed in such a relative position that the odors and sounds would be carried away from the campus by the prevailing breeze so that they would not annoy those in classes.

The architecture favored by Mr. Lindsey and Mr. Austin is California Spanish. They urge the use of brick decorated with polychrome. Mr. Lindsey declares he is very much opposed to the use of plaster as he does not believe that it is substantial enough for the exterior of a permanent institution.

While the layout is being prepared for a plant of 3000 students, only two-thirds of it will be constructed at this time. The present high school enrollment is over 1371 and the average attendance is 1100. The new plant will accommodate about 2000 pupils when completed.

Requirements for the new plant have been gone over very carefully by Mr. Moyse and Mr. Lindsey. They are both desirous that nothing should be overlooked to make it one of the most complete for its size in the west.

The high school day is divided into nine periods of forty minutes each. Thirty-eight classrooms are utilized. The new plant will have between fifty and sixty classrooms divided among the different departments, according to their apparent growth.

Auditorium Planned

An auditorium is being planned with a total seating sapacity of 2700 which will make it the largest in the city. However, 700 of this number will be seated in the gallery which will not be built until necessary. Twelve hundred seats will be placed on the first floor and 800 on the balcony, giving a total of 2000 when it is dedicated.

Under the balcony along the ground floor of the auditorium will be placed rectangular rooms with small stages which can be used for classes in music, dramatics of oral expression. Arrangements will be made so that these can be made a portion of the main auditorium.

Physical education has been given a definite place in the new layout. Two separate gymnasium buildings are desired, each about 100 feet square and containing about 70 by 100 feet of floor space. The front of each building would be occupied by lockers and showers and offices. At the present time, 60 per cent of those registered in the physical education department are girls. However, all are required to take a certain amount of prescribed exercise each week for graduation.

The swimming pool is somewhat of a futurist mirage, according to Mr. Lindsey. He believes, however, that a space about 60 by 120 feet would take care of it very nicely. The tennis, handball, volley ball and outside basketball courts would be placed between the gymnasium buildings and the athletic field. The arrangement of the bleachers cannot be decided until the location of the track is known definitely.

Chinese Hide Children; Fear Census Takers

LONDON — Many Chinese residents of the Port of Hong Kong refused to fill up their census papers because they held the belief that the British authorities were taking the census for the purpose of procuring a number of children to bury under the piers of a new bridge.

Thus relates J. P. Lloyd, the Hong Kong census officer, in his report to his government.

"The prevalence of a widespread belief among Chinese women of the middle and lower classes in the alleged inhuman designs of the public works department on infantile life undoubtedly affected the number of children of both sexes recorded between the ages of 4 and 10 years," says Lloyd's report.

"The rumor referred to is, in short, that the government intended to build a huge bridge across the harbor to Kowloon, resting on ninety-nine piers, and that a certain number of young children of both sexes were required to be buried alive under the foundations of each pier in order to insure its stability.

"In the perverted view of the frightened mothers the very object of the census was to enable the government to make a suitable choice of its victims. In some districts the mothers removed their children forcibly from school, while many children were locked indoors for days and not allowed to go out. Newspapers, however, soon killed the rumor."

Terms Radio Seventh Wonder Modern World

GAINESVILLE, Ga.—The radiophone is the seventh wonder of the modern world, Dr. H. J. Pearce, president of Brenau College for Women, told the world, in a message he broadcasted at the installation of a radiophone in the college recently, believed to be the first in a woman's college.

The other six wonders of the modern world, in order named, he said, were the automobile, the airplane, the phonograph, the X-ray, anaesthesia and radium.

Dr. Pearce contrasted what he termed the seven wonders of the modern world with the seven wonders of the ancient world. "The seven ancient wonders, of which the Pyramids is typical, consisted of great masses of matter fashioned by the hand of man," he said. "The seven modern wonders consist of relatively small masses of matter most delicately adjusted.

"The wonders of the ancient world involved ponderous elements, requiring great strength in their adjustment; the wonders of the modern world involve the imponderable ether and the air, requiring great intelligence and delicacy of touch in their adjustment.

"The ancient wonders were located at fixed points on the earth and were the property of certain nations; the modern wonders are produced anywhere and are the property of all people.

"The ancient wonders were subject to decay, and all except the Pyramids have already disintegrated; the modern wonders are eternal principles, and time will only add to their perfection and efficiency."

New Botanic Garden for Nation Proposed

WASHINGTON—Plans for a new National Botanic Garden in the nation's capital are being pressed forward under the direction of a Congressional committee headed by Senator Ransdell, of Louisiana.

Lieutenant-Colonel Clarence O. Sherrill, officer in charge of public buildings and grounds and executive officer of the Fine Arts commission, has assured a joint conference of Senators and House members, who would handle the necessary legislation, that he is ready to turn over to the Botanic Garden the requisite land already owned by the government.

Plans for the extension of the Botanic Garden are ambitiously intended to make it the greatest Botanic Garden in the world and to so situate it in the architectural layout of the national capital as to make it renowned as well for its appearance as for what it contains. The plans include the laying out of a parkway from the union depot to the national capitol. Under the plans of Architect Woods the main portion of the Botanic Garden would be artistically placed between the Washington navy yard and the army war college.

New Sea Monster Is Hooked Out of Pacific

LOS ANGELES—Blase fishermen were astonished and learned professors shook their heads in bewilderment with the capture of an unusual new sea monster, apparently of an unknown species, by the crew of a crew of a fishing craft off Long Beach. The monster measured 17½ feet long and weighed 1500 pounds. The capture was made about eight miles from shore and required several hours to land.

Captain Ray Palmer, skipper of the fishing boat Music, the crew of which landed the monster, had just baited and lowered his line when the fish swallowed the hook, bait and part of the line. For three hours the crew battled with their prey, and it was not until after they had shot the fish with a rifle that the members of the crew were able to bring it ashore.

The mysterious monster has a wide, cavernous mouth, containing what appears to be an extra set of ribs, in addition to its regular set of teeth. The skin of the animal rubs as smooth one way as that of a seal and as rough as sand the other, and large, powerful fins, capable of propelling it through almost any current.

The short cut to doing your best is to resolve continually to do better.

He Quaffs 'Last Drink' and Then Falls Dead

CHARLESTON, Ill. — "Here's my last drink!" With this remark, L. E. Green, aged 56, in the presence of friends, lifted a glass of carbolic acid to his lips and drank the contents. An instant later he plunged headlong to the floor, dying in a few seconds. On a card in his pocket he had written his will.

SMOKER LOSES THIS FIGHT

ALLIANCE, Neb., April 28. — Thomas ("One Eye") Langford, 83, and W. A. Dunlap, 65, crippled inmates of the Butte county farm, debated the question of whether the use of tobacco shortens life and whether a user of the weed can "enter the kingdom of heaven." Langford, who smokes and chews, said he expected to live to a ripe old age and then get by St. Peter, despite his devotion to pipe and plug. He is in a hospital. Dunlap, an abstainer, will be held in jail pending the outcome of Langford's injuries.

W. S. Burkholder, superintendent of the farm, says the aged men have quarreled for ten years over Dunlap's insistence that Langord was shortening his life and endangering his chance for salvation. The battle ended when Langford's only eye was closed by a blow from his opponent's crutch.

BLUEBEARD ASKS FREEDOM

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—It became known today that James P. Watson, modern "Bluebeard" who confessed to the slaying of nine wives, may make a legal battle for freedom from San Quentin, where he is serving a life term. Warden Johnston of San Quentin confirmed reports today that Watson has recently been in conference with lawyers.

It is reported he will base his fight for freedom on the grounds that the body of Nina Lee Deloney was found in Imperial county and that he was sentenced in Los Angeles county for a crime alleged to have been committed in that county.

EASY DIVORCES OPPOSED

BALTIMORE, Md., April 28. — Cupid's activities will be regulated and "divorce easy" colonies pull out of business if the League of Women Voters has its way. Marriage and divorce laws which would aim to sound the death knell for "Gretna Greens" and divorce colonies like Reno are recommended in a report to be presented to the third annual convention of the league which formally opened here today.

"Equal alimony rights for men were advocated today in an interview by Catherine Waugh McCullough, well-known woman lawyer of Chicago, chairman of the committee which will submit the report.

State Rights Battle Starts in Congress

WASHINGTON—The old fight for "state rights" was on again in congress today. This time it is Senator Ladd, republican and non-partisan leaguer, of North Dakota, who is out to curb federal powers, and he proposed to do it through sweeping changes in interstate commerce laws.

Ladd is laying his battle lines in the hope of getting prompt action on his bill to give back to the several states exclusive powers over their own affairs—principally in the matter of commerce. He charges the federal government with maintaining an "autocratic rule" over state administrations and points to a recent decision of the United States supreme court in a North Dakota grain case wherein it was held that the rulings of the interstate commerce commission supersede any state law affecting shipments of grain.

The bill which Ladd hopes to put through is aimed at revision of interstate commerce laws, but the application of the new law would be so far-reaching as to strip from the federal government many of its existing powers over the states. Its principal effect would be to restore to individual states the right to fix all railroad freight and passenger rates within their borders.

Ladd declared today that under the decision of the supreme court all state laws affecting shipment of food products, grain, cattle or any other commodity have been swept aside in favor of the Federal interstate commerce laws. The decision he said, wiped out the state grain inspection laws in North Dakota, Minnesota, Kansts and other wheat-growing states; state oil inspection laws in Texas, Oklahoma, California and other oil-producing states; pure food acts in North Dakota and Pennsylvania and similar laws in nearly every state in the Union.

Woman's Tongue Tires Judge, Who Frees Man

SAN DIEGO.—Take out your pencil and jot this down in your notebook as another very odd thing:

The wagging tongue of a woman has been found useful—to Herbert Hayes, who stood before the bar of justice in city court here. Hayes was charged with turning off the lights when he parked his car.

For an hour a Salvation Army lass—testifying in his behalf—detailed to the judge the beatitude of love for a paralytic father on the part of young Hayes. She refused to be interrupted with questions from the presiding official. The court room spectators sighed. It was a languid sort of entertainment.

"That'll do," finally interrupted the judge. "You've talked long enough. Give us a rest. Case dismissed."

The eagle, since ancient times, has been called the "king of birds."

'Destroyer With Wings' Is New Device of War

LONDON. — The "destroyer with wings" is the description applied to a sea and aircraft machine which a British aircraft firm is now completing, under the direction of the air ministry.

This machine is to be full of the most ingenious secret devices for "two-element" navigation—on the sea or in the air.

Calculations have shown that a torpedo boat destroyer has power enough in her engine room, if this were applied in the right way and she were fitted with wings, to lift her from sea to air.

On the winged ship now completing, the small crew will take aboard water and food supplies and will live for days without leaving their craft.

CACTUS TO FIGHT FAMINE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28. — The spineless cactus, developed by Luther Burbank, famous plant wizard, is to be taken to Southern Russia as a means of combatting famine. This was revealed here during Burbank's annual visit to the "city" as guest of the Wild Flower Show.

The spineless cactus, which is highly edible when properly prepared, has already stood off the grim spectre of famine in East India so successfully that the government there is now engaged in planting it.

Point Strained, but Royal Etiquette Won

ATHENS—King Constantine is causing the chief of the protocol service a deal of trouble and giving him many sleepless nights. At any official or public function the protocol service is hard pressed to find a means of having Constantine present as well as members of the diplomatic corps.

Since he returned to Athens from exile many countries, including France and Great Britain, have refused to recognize him. Other countries, mostly neutral during the war, have recognized Greece's king.

Recently a mass was celebrated for Pope Benedict XV, to which the diplomatic corps was invited, as well as the royal court. The protocol service for several days could not think out a way of having both present without obliging them to meet each other. The king, in order to reach his seat, had to pass before the diplomatic corps. A means of avoiding the meeting was found by the erection of a huge screen between the diplomats and the king. Once seated the king could see the ambassadors, and to those whose countries had recognized him he bowed in salute and the ambassadors answered.

Representatives of France, Great Britain, Belgium, and Italy immediately showed more interest in the flutter of a fly above their heads. Court etiquette had been saved.

Clergymen Make Most Desirable Husbands?

LONDON.—"Clergymen are the most desirable husbands, judged by marriage statistics compiled by social reformers."

This was a statement made by the Rev. W. Major Scott, of Dundee, during the course of an address to his congregation on the subject of marriage.

Business men and men on the stock market were regarded as less satisfactory husbands, he added.

After clergymen came navy and army officers, professors and teachers.

Authors and journalists were regarded as unsatisfactory, and artists were quite hopeless.

Eagles frequently live for more than 100 years.

Declares Soul of Child Cramps in Tiny Apt.

CHICAGO—Can the soul of a child properly develop in a tiny apartment of one room, one sun parlor and a bed? Mrs. Mary C. Robbins, divorced wife of Cutler H. Robbins, former vice-president of Armour & Co., doesn't think so and has taken steps to stop it.

She has asked the courts for absolute custody of her infant son, because she believes such an environment harmful to him.

Baby Robbins, three, who bears the name of George B. Robbins, III., is now living, according to his mother's petition, in a single room "apartment" in a fashionable district of the Chicago North Side under the care of a nurse.

"That may be his father's idea of the proper home for a growing child," is the declaration of Mrs. Robbins; "but it isn't mine. Just because it happens to be the period of the year when he has custody I can do nothing to better things for my boy.

"I want the courts to give him back to me entirely so that I can give him the best of care—the care that only a mother can give her child. In that one-room apartment he sees no one but his nurse, except for occasional visits from his father. It isn't right."

Charges, counter charges, extradition proceedings, warrants and subpoenas have fluttered about the head of the little millionaire baby in a storm of litigation since the divorce of his parents.

The most recent court action occurred in January, when Mrs. Robbins caused the arrest of Frances McLean, pretty divorcee, on a charge of kidnaping while she was taking the child to its father in California.

At Ogden, Utah, officers boarded the westbound train bearing Miss McLean and the baby and took them off, locking the woman in the Ogden jail over night.

In Chicago Mrs. Robbins made formal application for extradition papers that Miss McLean be tried in that city and the child brought back. On refusal of Illinois authorities to start proceedings the fair "abductor" was released in Utah.

Mrs. Robbins countered by attempting to have her husband committed for contempt of court, asserting he owed her two months' alimony and had violated the divorce decree by ordering the child taken from the State of Illinois on such a long journey.

When argument on this application was adjourned Mrs. Robbins decided to prepare the bill which she has just filed and which sets forth all her grievances.

Scientists Worried by Insects' War on World

By F. A. WRAY,
Written for International News Service

LONDON.—Can human brains win in the great struggle that the insect is waging on the very existence of civilization?

That is the question that is now agitating British men of science.

Professor Harold Maxwell Lefroy, England's leading entomologist, has brought forward fourteen instances of the terrible ravages now being committed by insects throughout the world. His main example is the Argentine ant, which eats babies.

This insect first reached England in 1918, after having spread over half the world, especially Spain, since 1897. It has not merely devoured infants in their cradles in the Argentine, but it has completely wiped out the birds of Madeira by eating their nestlings and is ruining the orange and coffee harvests throughout the eastern and western hemispheres.

It often kills the plants, not directly, but by encouraging other insects, especially the green fly, which it keeps as a man keeps cows. It even builds houses for them, acts as doctor to them and defends them from enemies.

At the same time the ant, which is omnivorous, carries and spreads many of the worst human diseases. There is every fear that it may find a congenial home in London.

Professor Lefroy next instances the boll weevil, which attacks the cotton plant. After twenty years of research no preventive has been found against this insect, whose ravages are so well known throughout the cotton-growing areas. The professor agrees with the best American opinion that the next five years will see practically no cotton grown in America, and he anticipates that the world will be at least 7,000,000 bales short annually.

These are not the worst of the evils. Other instances that Professor Lefroy gives are:

The flea has caused 7,000,000 deaths in India by carrying plague.

The house fly kills 1,000 children in England every year by imparting infant diarrhoea. House flies, he says, are as numerous as they were 500 years ago; they carry typhoid, enteric, cholera and dysentery.

The British system of sanitation in Mesopotamia was ideally designed for carrying flies.

A number of women are on the verge of breakdown because of the prevalence of the almost invisible house mite.

Miss Ernestine Niles Receives Social Honors

Several social events and showers have been given recently in compliment to Miss Ernestine Niles of 227 West Colorado street, who is to be married soon to LeRoy Trafford. Miss Niles will leave on May 14 for New York City. The wedding ceremony will take place at the Little Church Around the Corner. After spending their honeymoon in New York and vicinity Mr. Trafford and his bride will make their home in Pittsburg, Pa.

Mr. Trafford is in the employ of the United States government mail service. Miss Niles has been a resident of Glendale about a year, coming here from Hershey, Pa., and since living here has been making her home with her aunt, Mrs. A. L. Morrison, 227 West Colorado street. Miss Niles has been employed with the telephone company here.

Mrs. Dora L. Gibson To Attend Convention

Mrs. Dora L. Gibson of 1321 North Maryland avenue, director of music in Glendale Union High school and president of the Southern California Association of Music Teachers, is making plans to attend a convention of this organization Saturday at Normal Hill Center, Los Angeles.

The program will consist of demonstrations in musical lines rather than with papers dealing with the theory of instruction. However, there will be a full discussion of problems connected with the junior high grades.

Mrs. John F. Lyons, president of the National Federation of Music Clubs of America, will address the association at the noon luncheon in the City Club. Mrs. Cecil Frankel, president of the State Federation of Music Clubs, and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of 1901 Kenneth Road, first vice-president of the State Federation, are scheduled to speak, also.

Zane Grey Story Is Featured at Glendale

This is getaway day for the fine William Fox picture, "The Last Trail," at the Glendale Theatre. This special production, based on Zane Grey's well-known novel of the same name, has achieved enviable success here—but success not greater than is justified. Both acting and screening are a genuine credit to the motion picture art. The cast is all star, headed by the stalwart young leading man, Maurice Flynn, while Emmett Flynn directed the picture.

In addition, there are short subjects well worth while the large Friday night theatre-goers' attention. Tomorrow vaudeville will be the featured attraction.

Name 'Mary' Found to Be Losing in Favor

LONDON—Mary, one of the prettiest names, typically English, and hallowed by many beautiful associations, is now falling rapidly out of public favor in England. Since Byron's day it has fallen under a cloud and lovers of old-world names and places are distressed.

The unpopularity of the name has only been evidenced lately, when one of the organizers of the English Marys tried to collect together all those named Mary, Marie, Maria, Marion or Marianne and subscribe a wedding present to Princess Mary. They searched the registry offices and to their chagrin they made the discovery that, although the name is the favorite with the Royal family, it is not by any means so with the rest of the inhabitants of the British Isles.

Names, like women's hats, have their vogue; they move in cycles following the fashion of the moment.

There have been too few heroines of late for their Christian names to be passed on to the girls of the succeeding generation. Grace Darling, the lifeboat heroine, left an army corps of Graces behind her, while Florence Nightingale popularized the name Florence for many generations.

Nowadays, however, there has been no indication that the old English names of Mary, Sarah, Alice and Anne have any vogue.

But Mary, never. Mary, of course, suffers from being so often coupled with Jane, the double name typifying the domestic servant of the Bloomsbury district. Most servant girls are dubbed Mary, and if that is not their baptismal name they will be doomed to answer to it.

Hey, Fish! Get Down! Look at What's Coming!

Roy L. Kent, Jack G. Huntley, J. Herbert Smith and Hal S. Webb, well-known locally as clubmen and sportsmen, are leaving this week-end for a fishing and hunting trip in the Sespe country. Mr. Huntley has engaged a guide and horses and assures the other members of the party that there is plenty of game, including mountain lions, etc., etc.

"Glendale—Fastest Growing City in America"

ONE TYPE OF LIGHT FOR WHOLE CITY IS SUGGESTED

San Fernando Association Gets Two Standard System; Other Sections Are Active

Glendale last Saturday, Mr. Kimlin visited Fullerton where a special type of standard made quite a favorable impression. Made of concrete with a gray granite finish, each base is surmounted with up-turned half moon of the same material. Each of the two tips support a globe which is capped with an ornamental canopy.

"It is a very beautiful standard," remarked Mr. Kimlin. "I am sure all who could see it would say so."

Santa Barbara is now installing this type of electroliers, according to Mr. Kimlin, who has been informed that many other communities in southern California are doing likewise. He feels that they would be a distinct credit to the streets of Glendale.

Considers Price Reasonable

The price ranges around $100 a standard, which Mr. Kimlin considers very reasonable. He stated that a metal base with the same attractiveness would cost between $175 and $200.

Although Mr. Kimlin was formerly an advocate of cast-iron standards, he has been "sold" upon the idea of utilizing concrete. This substance, he suggests, does not need the frequent applications of paint and is in no danger of rusting. He calls attention to the fact that it would be hard for an autoist to put a concrete post out of commission whereas one in which the iron has become crystalized may be broken fairly easily—by a head-on collision.

The type of electroliers to which Mr. Kimlin referred to is considered by him to be more efficient than the present type of five-globe standards. The consumption of electricity is much less. While the volume of light radiated is much less also, it is all reflected downward upon the sidewalk and street, where needed, instead of being allowed to be reflected broadcast—to light up the moon.

Splendid Improvement

As to whether the present ornamental standards should be discarded in the near future Mr. Kimlin is not prepared to state. He does believe, however, that it would be a splendid civic improvement if the new type of concrete bases could be installed upon the main thoroughfares and those in use at present transferred elsewhere.

This new type of light has been selected by the San Fernando Road Improvement association, according to Mr. Kimlin. He believes they will be advocated also by the Los Feliz Road Improvement association. He is very much opposed to having electroliers of different types in various sections of the community. He suggests standardizing two different types of light for the entire municipality: One style for business districts and the other for the residential portions of Glendale.

PLANT OF GLENDALE CREAMERY MODEL OF EFFICIENCY

Smith MacMullin Is Receiving Qongratulations On Opening Of Fine Institution

The new modern plant of the Glendale Creamery, 755 West Doran street, is having its formal opening.

Smith MacMullin, manager of the institution, was on hand with "the smile that won't come off" as a greeter.

An especial invitation has been extended by Mr. MacMullin to all those who are interested in their milk supply to visit the plant between the hours of 2 and 8 today and inspect all departments of the bottling works.

Samples of the company's Grade "A" milk flowed freely. Mr. MacMullin stated that the same high quality of nourishment was being furnished daily to customers in Glendale.

Processes Explained

The different pasteurizing processes are being thoroughly explained to those who are interested.

The Glendale Creamery today is receiving the congratulations upon the efficiency and sanitation of its new plant.

Mr. MacMullin declared emphatically that no expense has been spared to make it a model in southern California.

"I believe firmly in the future of Glendale," he remarked. "While we have always maintained the purity of the milk which we have handled, we have looked forward to the opening of this new plant for some time with a great deal of anticipation."

The undergraduate in college now is better than was the student of a quarter of a century ago, according to the dean of Brown university. The new man is more amenable to discipline; has a keener interest in education; has a larger capacity for work and a higher sense of integrity. The dean says in thirty years he has met but two students who were liars.

Prize Winning Dancer To Take Part In Fine Program At Art Exposition Tonight

Cecilia Mae Fischer, who will take part in program to be given tonight at the Art Show in the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. Miss Fischer won first prize in competition at the Children's Exposition held recently at Exposition Park, Los Angeles.

Cecilia Mae Fischer, who won a first prize in an exhibition contest of pupils of the various dancing schools of Los Angeles and vicinity at the Children's Exposition held recently at Exposition Park, is to take part in the program to be given by the pupils of the Pearl Keller school at the art show in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium tonight. Beatrice and Elizabeth Turner, who also took part in one of the programs at the Children's Exposition and were awarded third prize, also will appear.

The program as planned by Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain includes "The Skater's Dance" and "The Dragon Fly," by Cecilia Mae Fischer; "Highland Fling" and "Japanese Dance," by Elizabeth and Beatrice Turner; "Humoresque" and "Minuette," by Dorothy Dutton; recitation and musical reading by Mary Alice Ross; "Crystal Dance," by Shirley Hitchcock; "Eccentric Dance," by Glenn Hitchcock. Miss Gertrude Champlain will accompany them at the piano.

All of the pupils of the Keller school are busily at work in the midst of rehearsals for the eighth annual Children's Society Vaudeville to be presented under the personal direction of Mrs. Pearl Keller Brattain by William Howe at the Glendale theatre on Friday evening, June 16.

Local Association Talks About Ornamental System, Bond Issue And Hotel

installed elsewhere in Glendale.

Dr. Harrower condemned the inefficiency of the standards now in use on Brand boulevard and Broadway and commended those in service along the southern extremity of Brand boulevard. Councilman C. E. Kimlin and S. A. Davis also spoke on the subject.

Urges School Bonds

Attention to the high school bond election, which occurs Tuesday, was called by Mrs. Tight, who suggested that every member of the association should boost for the approval of the bonds.

While she admitted that there did not seem much chance of the bonds being defeated, she urged that everyone who could do any personal work for them should report to the election committee of the Chamber of Commerce at once.

"There is a very large tendency on the part of people in general and some people in particular, to 'let George do it'," remarked Dr. Harrower. "Everyone in town who knows anything about the high school situation, knows that new facilities are imperative."

He continued by saying that while the success of the election seemed assured, there was a fine opportunity for "obstructionists" and that, if the bonds should be defeated at this time, considerable delay would result in calling another election. He remarked that enlarged high school accommodations must be provided sooner or later and that the voters might just as well get behind the proposition and do it now.

Hotel Situation Report

A favorable report on the hotel situation was made by Herman Nelson, manager of the Glendale Branch of the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank who said that he was not prepared to make a definite statement, but that there was not much doubt about the completion of a hotel on the site excavated as soon as the committee had worked out the proposition as to the size of such a structure which could be made a paying proposition.

There was no discussion over the paving of Glendale avenue or the electrification of the Union Pacific line.

Besides those already mentioned, those present at the meeting were: John Addison, T. H. Addison, Henry E. Brockway, R. M. Brown, Nettie B. Campbell, J. A. Erlander, Charles A. Fischer, J. H. Folz, Frank L. Fox, Mrs. Grace J. Fraley, M. B. Hartmann, Edmund G. Herring, W. S. Holmquist, James Howarth, W. H. Hyde, P. J. Heyselden, S. C. Kinch, R. E. Kirkland, Mrs. S. E. Logie, Harry McBain, F. W. M. McIntyre, J. L. McOmber, C. U. Mandis, Henry Merz, Robert Oliver, J. L. S. Perch, Frank H. Pilling, William H. Reeves, William Sapir, Charles E. Stanley, J. K. Todd, W. Hundreds of Members of Klan Under Inquiry

LOS ANGELES, April 28.—Hundreds of members of the Ku Klux Klan, charged with responsibility for the masked mob violence at Inglewood and in Kern county, whose names were found in the list of 1013 seized in the raid on the headquarters of the so-called "invisible empire" in Los Angeles will be questioned at the district attorney's office or before the county grand jury, it was announced today.

The questioning of Klansmen, many of whom were found to be well known citizens, city and county officials, peace officers and even ministers, will be for the purpose of effecting a "break" in the ranks of the secret organization and disclosing the inner working of the Klan, according to information obtained at the district attorney's office.

Confessions and exposures to corroborate the evidence already obtained by District Attorney Woolwine, it was stated, are expected from Klansmen said to be anxious to renounce the Klan in the hope of securing immunity from prosecution for the Inglewood raid.

District Attorney Woolwine today strongly urged the immediate impaneling of the 1922 grand jury for the purpose of carrying on the investigation of the Klan and the Inglewood outrage.

The so-called "confession" of N. A. Baker, Kleagle of the Klan, alleged to have been one of the leaders of the Inglewood raiders and to have presided at the Klan meeting at which the raid was planned, was kept secret by Woolwine today.

Evidence consisting of letters and papers found at the Klan headquarters and said to show a connection between the Klan headquarters in Los Angeles and the mob violence in Kern county was submitted to the grand jury in Bakersfield today by District Attorney Dorsey, who conferred with Woolwine yesterday. Dorsey stated he expected the new evidence to result in the indictment of a score of Kern county citizens who are members of the Klan.

Glendale Women To Attend State Meeting

The state convention of the California Federation of Music clubs begins in San Francisco on Monday of next week and will continue over Tuesday and Wednesday. Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of Glendale is vice-president of the state federation and will leave the latter part of the week for the northern city.

The Glendale Music club, of which Mrs. Jones is president, and the auxiliaries will be represented by Miss Gertrude Champlain, who will also report on the high school activities.

Mrs. E. W. Kinney of the music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club and Mrs. Charles A. Parker, director of the Madrigal club, will also attend the convention.

Vacant Parsonage Is Scene of Death Mystery

HOOPESTON, Ill., April 28.—Discovery of the body of Miss Gertrude Hanna, 25, lying on a narrow ledge in the basement of the vacant United Presbyterian parsonage, had shaken this town to its foundations today and provided the authorities with a mystery that may prove difficult of solution.

Whether Miss Hanna was murdered or ended her own life has not been determined. Whether she met her death in the basement of the parsonage or was brought there after being slain is another puzzling angle of the mystery. The length of time she has been dead, whether she died by poison or through some other means and the reason for her slaying or suicide are other phases that future developments must answer.

But topping all of these puzzling questions came the revelation that the girl, had she lived, would have become a mother. This fact is the outstanding feature of the case that has caused a sensation.

Miss Hanna's body was found late yesterday by a carpenter who was engaged in preparing the parsonage for the occupancy of a new pastor. Workmen had been engaged in the upper part of the house several days, but not until yesterday did any of them have occasion to go to the basement. J. C. McKibben, in charge of the carpenters, went to the basement yesterday and noticed what appeared to be a bundle of clothing lying on a ledge. Investigation proved it to be the body of Miss Hanna.

Sheriff Charles Knox and Coroner John Cole were notified. An autopsy revealed the girl's condition.

No marks of violence were found upon the body. Impressions in the flesh of the wrists indicated that her hands might have been bound for some time with a leash of some description, but otherwise the body was unmarked.

SEE SIGNS OF BREAKUP

ROME, April 28.—The first concrete sign of the breakup of the Genoa economic conference was contained in information received here. M. Barthou, chief of the French delegation at Genoa, was reported to have announced that he will go to Paris to report to the French cabinet, which is in disagreement over Premier Poincare's refusal to attend the Versailles signatories meeting. The Italian information regarding Barthou's move was accompanied by a statement that there is grave doubt whether the French vice premier will ever return to Genoa.

Genoa Conference In 'Critical Condition'

By S. D. WEYER.
Written for International News Service

GENOA, April 28—An air of tense expectancy and uncertainty hovered over the Genoa conference today.

Whether the peace ship launched so hopefully by Lloyd George will sink or float is expected to be determined within the next forty-eight hours. The world statesmen gathered here are about evenly divided as to its chances, with possibly the majority believing the vessel is doomed.

The indomitable little Welshman has weathered so many crises in the nineteen days of the parley that some observers believed his ambitious effort is doomed to failure in the latest crisis.

A most pessimistic view prevailed here today as a result of the decision of Premier Poincare not to come to Genoa to attend the meeting of the signatories to the Versailles treaty. That the French decision widened the already wide breach between British and French policy was generally admitted.

The general feeling of gloom was heightened by reports that Barthou, head of the French delegation, is about to leave Genoa and return to Paris to report to the French cabinet.

The expected completion and delivery to Russia of the allies' note stating definitely the conditions on which the soviet will be admitted to diplomatic society of nations, was the chief item on today's program.

But this, important as it is, is dwarfed in the minds of the scores of delegates and hundreds of diplomatic, financial and journalistic observers, by the parlous state of the life of the conference itself.

Of the three great struggles of the world peace launched here, two seem to be facing inevitable failure, and a third appears impossible if the others fail.

European reconstruction and recovery.

FOUR ARE REFUSED REVIEW

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Four Californians convicted and fined in California for violation of the prohibition law, were denied a review of their cases today by the United States supreme court. They were William Page, Ernest Burr, Milton Brown and William Finley, all of the Douglas club at Fresno.

A pint of "jackass" brandy was seized in the club and the officials brought an appeal from conviction on the grounds that mere possession of liquor is not punishable under the Volstead law. The supreme court, however, refused to review the conviction.

Former Fiance of Virginia Rappe Weds

LOS ANGELES, April 28.—With the declaration that he is now determined on seeking the quiet and simple life, Henry M. Lehrmann, picture director who formerly was the fiance of Virginia Rappe, whose sensational death in San Francisco was charged to Roscoe "Fatty" Arbusckle today announced his marriage.

The bride is Mary Alice Simpson, former Follies girl, known to the stage as Jocelyn Leigh. Her home is in Chicago, Lehrmann says. He says Miss Simpson came from New York two weeks ago and that following her arrival here their one and a half years' acquaintance ripened into a whirlwind love affair which culminated in marriage.

Entirely unaccompanied, according to Lehrmann's statement, he and Miss Simpson motored to Santa Ana on Wednesday, where they were married by Justice Cox.

Lehrmann says no receptions marked their marriage and that within a few days he and his bride will move into a new bungalow Lehrmann owns in Hollywood.

DENY BERGDOLL REQUEST

WASHINGTON, April 28. — The Supreme Court of the United States has denied Erwin Bergdoll, in a Leavenworth penitentiary, leave to file a petition before the court for a writ of habeas corpus for his release. Bergdoll is a brother of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the Philadelphia draft dodger. He was sent to the penitentiary for failure to comply with the draft law.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Advertisement.

Christie Comedians In Novel Act at T. D. & L.

"Fox and Fletcher." That's the way the two Christie comedians who appear in person on the T. D. & L. theatre stage in an exhilarating burst of comedy chatter and song, style themselves.

The act is surely a novelty, it is declared. Opening up with a one-reel film—and, by the way, the scenes were shot in Glendale last Sunday—it then switches to the two fun-makers who are discovered on the stage in the same position as they are last seen in the film. It's brim full of comedy from start to finish.

Admittedly one of the most charming of screen players, Agnes Ayres, new Paramount star, achieves a triumph in her first stellar vehicle, "The Lane That Had No Turning," at the T. D. & L. theatre today. This is a dramatic picture based on a story by Sir Gilbert Parker, the scenes of which are laid in French Canada. Miss Ayres portrays a highly emotional role with exquisite depth of feeling and great dramatic power. She is splendidly supported by such players as Theodore Kosloff, Mahlon Hamilton, Frank Campeau, Lillian Leighton and others. The production is artistic and satisfying.

Regulation of Radio by Government Urged

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Regulation and control of radio communication by the federal government was advocated by the national conference of radio telephony in a report just made public.

The conference recommended that the secretary of commerce should have equal legal authority for the control of:

First—The establishment of all radio transmitting stations except amateur, experimental and government stations; and

Second—The operation of non-governmental radio transmitting stations.

The report recommended that waves for radio telephony be assigned in bands, according to the class of service.

It recommended that the secretary of commerce assign a specific wave length to each radio telephone broadcasting station, excepting government and amateur stations.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

One Day to Make Million!
Vote for High School Bonds
Johnson Like a Watchdog
Women Insist on "50-50"

By Gil A. Cowan

TOMORROW will tell whether Glendale will make the million-dollar mark in April building. There is but one day left for builders to rush in their plans calling for no less than $100,000 and then it depends upon the officials of the Presbyterian church to get their permit for approximately $200,000.

It is more than likely that the much desired figure will be made, but any amount more than that registered at noon today is a great credit to a city of this size.

With the many major projects planned for the year, including the possibility of $600,000 in high school buildings, there is no question but what the permits will be somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000,000 when the books are closed for the year.

One of the most interesting things in Glendale is watching the city grow. It is like a husky youngster, outgrowing the clothes and keeping papa's pocketbook pretty near empty.

Speaking of the high school causes one to think of the bond election looming next week. The need for the buildings on the new site is quite apparent and there is no need to further discuss the merits of the issue.

What is necessary now is for every parent, every voter to get out next Tuesday and vote for the bonds as a civic necessity which must be met.

Of course, YOU will.

After weeks of waiting, the appearance of the telephone exchange ordered for The Glendale Evening News office lends hope that the present congestion on the wires will be eliminated.

The rapidity with which The Glendale Evening News' business has increased taxes the facilities planned two years ago when the present building was constructed for newspaper purposes. Yet there is room enough in which to grow, and additional machinery, equipment and personnel are being added to keep pace with the city's progress.

Senator Hiram Johnson of California is making himself heard in world affairs. True, there are international bankers who would silence his voice or interference and there are people who do not agree with him, but the following dispatch still shows him to be irreconcilable to the United States being drawn into foreign entanglements:

"Keep out," was the response of Senator Johnson to the suggestion of Lloyd George that the United States help to straighten out the Genoa muddle.

"We are fortunate we are not a part of the Genoa conference," Senator Johnson said. "May our good fortune continue, and may we keep out."

The Californian took a fling at Lady Astor's recent suggestion that the United States ought to enter the league of nations.

"Americans are a patient and courteous lot," he said. "Courtesy may be abused and patience exhausted. It's time British propagandists sojourning here cease telling us what we ought to do."

It would seem strange to the average American that the British intelligence service knew more about the Germans' activities in the United States, as well as the Americans' activity in the war, than the natives did.

Much more could be written on the subject, both pro and con, but rest assured that 32 Downing street must keep informed. That is Lloyd George's hangout when not at Genoa, directing the destinies of a large part of the world.

Now that the women have equal rights they propose to give mere men theirs! Just what they are going to give is not exactly clear, but it is something like this, according to Mrs. James:

"Women should have 'fifty-fifty' rights with men—no more. It is not fair to the men to pass special legislation for women. If women have equal rights, men should have them."

Another speaker at the League of Women Voters bitterly denounced minimum wage and other welfare legislation. Of course, there was much excitement.

To revert to that "fifty-fifty" idea, it is wondered whether the women will figure like the Chicago sausage maker who was trying to explain his product to a poor food inspector.

"You use rabbit meat, don't you?" demanded the latter.

"Yes, some," was the reply.

"And you mix it with horse meat?"

"Yes, fifty-fifty."

"How's that?"

"One rabbit and one horse."

Betty Jane Boothby Has Party on Birthday

Mrs. W. H. Boothby of 348 West Lexington Drive entertained yesterday afternoon with a little party in celebration of the second birthday anniversary of her daughter, Betty Jane Boothby. Pink roses were used as decorations throughout the house. Refreshments of ice-cream and a birthday cake decorated with two pink candles and pink roses were served. Each little guest was given a little Japanese doll as a favor. The guests were Jimmy Farner, Barbara Jean McAdams of Palmdale, Yvonne Eames, Margaret Salmacia and Betty Jane Boothby.

some instances, traffic officers made arrests when there was really no cause.

"I understand that people driving at a little more than fifteen miles an hour on East Broadway have been arrested and fined," said Mayor Spencer Robinson.

Hartley Shaw, city attorney, said that the state law provides a limit of fifteen miles in the business district, twenty miles at crossings and thirty miles on open highways.

Allen O. Martin, former chief of police, said that police officers did not stick close to the state law, allowing five to ten miles more than its provisions.

Members of the council said that complaints were being made that the traffic regulations in Glendale were being just a bit too strictly enforced.

Speed Maniac Kills Man

LOS ANGELES — April 28.—A speed maniac exacted another life in the heart of Los Angeles today.

An unidentified man was knocked down and killed by a speeding automobile at First and Main streets. The two occupants of the car failed to stop and render aid.

Later police found the automobile abandoned at Macy and Alameda streets. It is believed the machine was stolen and abandoned after the fatal accident.

Three Persons Injured

LOS ANGELES, April 28.—Three persons were painfully injured early today in a spectacular automobile accident at Bairdstown when a machine operated by Harry McKinnon crashed into the automobile of A. Friffin.

McKinnon's ribs were fractured, his wife, Florence McKinnon, and his son, Milton 5, suffered lacerations and abrasions. Griffin was not injured, according to the police.

Two Killed, Two Hurt

MILL VALLEY, April 28.—W. H. Edlin and J. A. Todd were killed, and Mrs. Edlin and Daisy Edlin, 9, were seriously injured here today when a new automobile Edlin was driving plunged through a bridge railing and crushed its passengers beneath it on the creek bed below. Mr. and Mrs. Packer Hosts at Card Party

A very delightful card party was held yesterday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Packer, 362 West Riverdale Drive, attended by over 100 friends and members of the "Community Workers' Club." At this occasion about $50 was realized, which will be turned over to the ways and means committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club toward the building fund.

The house was artistically decorated with lilacs, purple iris and wistaria. First prize at 500 in the afternoon was awarded to Mrs. L. Barney and at bridge to Mrs. Beckner. In the evening prizes at auction were awarded to Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Sr., and C. Blake, and at 500 to Mrs. Ed Carvel and Chester Kling. Refreshments were served.

Intermediate Pupils to Give 'The Toy Shop'

A large attendance is expected in the auditorium of the high school tonight to witness the production of "The Toy Shop" by the A8th class of the Intermediate school.

Miss Carrie Noble, principal, stated this morning that over $100 worth of tickets had been sold. As the prices are 25 cents for children and 35 cents for adults, this means that at least 350 seats have been reserved. However, the capacity of the assembly room is over 500 and Miss Noble does not believe it will be necessary to turn anyone away.

The proceeds will be used by the graduating class for its class activities and for the purchase of its class present to the school.
